1ST NATIONAL PROPOSES NEW STOCK ISSUE

In a letter received today by the stockholders of the First National Bank of Gettysburg, the bank's officers announce a plan to increase the common stock of the bank from $250,000 to $300,000 by the sale of shares with a par value of $5.

The $50,000 in new stock is to be sold at "not less than $12.50 per share," according to a letter signed by Paul L. Spangler, cashier, which accompanies a letter from President Edmund W. Thomas.

The plan will go before the bank's stockholders for approval of appropriate resolutions and an amendment to the articles of association at the stockholders' annual meeting January 14 at 11 a.m. at the bank.

Rights For Shareholders
Mr. Spangler's letter says further: "The shareholders of record on the date of the adoption of that resolution will be accorded rights to purchase those additional shares at $12.50 per share, in proportion to their respective holdings of common stock of the bank on that date."

In the accompanying letter from President Thomas, it is explained: "This increase in capital has been made necessary by reason of the steady growth in your bank's deposits and assets." Total deposits of the bank are about $800,000 ahead of the total for a year ago, Mr. Thomas said today.

If approved by the stockholders, the increase in capitalization will be the first for the bank in 15 years. The last block of stock was issued in 1942.

Stockholders To Elect
The annual election of the board of directors for the bank for the coming year will be another matter to be handled by the stockholders at their meeting on January 14. The stockholders then elect the bank's officers for the year.

Bank officials noted that, after the capitalization is completed, the surplus of the bank will total $325,000 while the new capital figure will be $300,000.

MORE THAN 300 SCOUTS ATTEND ANNUAL PARTY
Boy Scouts from all over the county will be looking for needy families to donate food baskets to this Christmas. More than 346 was donated for this purpose Thursday evening at the annual Black Walnut Boy Scout District Christmas party held in the Gettysburg High School gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock.

The party was held for all Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer units in the Black Walnut District.

Stanley Rogers, field executive for the district, welcomed the Scouts and extended holiday greetings.

More than 300 boys participated in group singing led by Explorer Wayne Miller from Troop 84, Littlestown, and Cub Scout Garry Lee Spence from Troop 76, Fairfield. Dr. Joseph R. Riley was the master of ceremonies.

The "honored guest" was Santa Claus who arrived with an "ear splitting" welcome. He also took over in leading a few songs.

Holiday movies were shown and Dean W. E. Tilberg conducted the annual peanut scramble.

The gifts the Scouts brought will be given to the Hoffman Orphanage. Dr. Riley also reported that the money left over from the food baskets will be given to the orphanage also.

Oranges and candy were distributed at the close of the party.

Three Fire Calls Here On Thursday

Gettysburg firemen were called three times to fires Thursday. At 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon the firemen were called to a chimney fire at White Church.

At 7:10 o'clock they responded to an alarm at the Central Chemical Company where a furnace in a shed had filled the structure with smoke.

At 8:15 o'clock they were called to a chimney fire at the home of Lee Myers, 4 1/2 miles south of here on the Littlestown Rd.

The annual St. John's Day banquet will be held the evening of Friday, December 27, at the American Legion home on Baltimore St., with William S. Livengood Jr., former Pennsylvania secretary of internal affairs, as the speaker.

Charles E. Kuhn is in charge of arrangements for the annual dinner. Other officers named Thursday follow: Senior warden, Charles E. Kuhn; junior warden, George W. Glenn; treasurer, Kenneth W. Johns; secretary, Ray J. Kitzmiller; and trustees, Arthur E. Hutchison, Lloyd C. Keefeauver and Eugene R. Hartman. Paul A. LeGore was re-elected as representative to the Grand Lodge.

The new officers were installed by the retiring officers.

TRIBUTE PAID TO MEMORY OF MISS CALLAHAN

The 40-voice Mount St. Mary's College Glee Club, featuring Miss Mary Jane Kemp, Baltimore soprano, as guest artist, gave the finest performance in its ten-year history Thursday evening before an appreciative audience in Flynn Hall on the college campus, near Emmitsburg.

The Winter Carnival of Song offered excellent variety as the Mount St. Mary's Glee Club, under the direction of Rev. Fr. David W. Schaum, professor of music and founder of the Glee Club, ranged through Christmas carols, musical comedy, operetta, hymns, a college medley, and a negro spiritual. The choristers executed the demanding program with clarity and verse. On several occasions the audience joined the singers in rendering familiar songs.

Highlight of the evening was a musical tribute to the late Miss Mary Louise Callahan, society editor of The Gettysburg Times until her death last February. Rev. Fr. Schaum in dedicating the musical memorial to Miss Callahan said, "No one loved Mount St. Mary's or her singers more than Miss Callahan. She rarely missed a performance of our Glee Club and was most kind in her criticism of our work." The choir teamed with Miss Kemp sang Henry Diehlman's brilliant "With Glory Lit the Midnight Air" in her memory.

Miss Kemp's Solos
For her solos Miss Kemp sang Rogers and Hammerstein's "Getting to Know You," Pestalozza's "Cribbribin," and "Around the World in Eighty Days." She joined the glee-men in the Christmas carols and the "Cantique de Noel." Miss Kemp wore a red taffeta, floor-length gown with bouffant sleeves, except for the carol numbers which were rendered informally.

The program was colorfully staged with the Glee Club garbed in dark blue blazers and grey flannel slacks. Backdrops varied from a red velvet curtain set off with gold vertical decorations, a winter setting with snow and Christmas trees, and a maroon curtain with a stained glass window effect. The carols presented the singers in colorful jackets and trousers carrying skis, skis and.

Ike In Excellent Spirits As He Prepares To Fly To Paris

By ED CREAUGH
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported in excellent spirits today as he prepared to fly to Paris for the NATO summit conference.

He was due to take off at 5 p.m. and those who saw him ahead of time said he was of unusually good cheer despite the formidable task ahead of him—shoring up the North Atlantic Alliance in the face of new Russian threats and missile-space advances.

The White House said eight persons would accompany Eisenhower on the presidential plane, Columbine III.

Killian Along
Perhaps significantly, the President's personal party includes Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and Dr. James R. Killian Jr., recently appointed special assistant to the President for science and technology.

Countering the recent Russian advances in the missiles field will be one of the chief problems to come before the meeting of heads of state at Paris.

HOSPITAL BD. GETS FIGURES ON NEW WING

The board of directors of the Warner Hospital Thursday night at their meeting at the hospital received architects' estimates of costs for the new wing to be added to the institution, and prepared to seek bids for construction of the new structure.

Attorney Richard A. Brown, fund drive chairman, reported a net of $328,000 in cash and pledges on hand from the current finance campaign and added that the reports from a number of solicitors are incomplete. He said he expects to make the final report at the January meeting of the board.

In connection with the plans to modernize the original section of the hospital, Dr. Bruce N. Wolf, at the request of the board, suggested plans for a number of changes.

Discuss Records System
Dr. Wolf and Administrator Walter B. Dillon reported on the medical records problem at the hospital, stressing the need for professional recording service. At present the hospital has insufficient personnel to keep the medical records in a manner by which they can provide the highest amount of information, both said. They added that the medical records are one of the first items studied by accreditation inspectors. The board voted to continue the discussion on medical records to the January meeting.

Decision was made to terminate the practical nurse training program at the hospital with the graduation of the current class in February. The decision was based upon the increased availability of nurses, but the board noted that the training program will be resumed at any time the need warrants it.

By action of the board the hospital became an affiliate member of the Maryland Blue Cross. It has been a member of the Pennsylvania Blue Cross for a number of years. The action will benefit principally those members of the Maryland (Continued on Page 7)

Arrive In Excellent Spirits As He Prepares To Fly To Paris

The report that Eisenhower was in exceptionally good spirits came from a mid-morning visitor, Daniel Ahmeling Chapman, new ambassador from the African Republic of Ghana, and from photographers who made pictures of the envoy with the President.

Fit For Trip
The cameramen said Eisenhower joked with them and, generally, appeared more alert than he has for some time.

Eisenhower suffered a mild stroke Nov. 25 and is still under medical supervision, although his doctors have said he is fit to make the Paris trip.

Besides Strauss and Killian, Eisenhower's party will include his son, Maj. John S. Eisenhower, who will be the President's personal aide; Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the chief executive's personal physician; WAC Capt. Olive Marsh, Snyder's assistant; Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor, White House staff secretary; Mrs. Ann Whitman, the President's Mooney, Eisenhower's valet.

Mrs. Eisenhower is staying behind.

Communists Want To Outlaw Nuclear Weapons From Vast Zone In Heart Of Europe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S.S.R. has called on the United States and Britain to join in setting up a vast zone in the heart of Europe where nuclear weapons would be outlawed.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov issued the call last night as the U.N. Political Committee opened debate on peaceful coexistence.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will reply when the discussion resumes.

Kuznetsov's speech was believed aimed primarily at the upcoming NATO summit meeting in Paris. It was considered unusually mild although it contained warnings that the West should remember the Soviet ballistic developments.

"Renounce Storing"
Kuznetsov proposed that the U.S.S.R., the United States and Britain renounce the storing of nuclear weapons in East and West Germany.

If both German governments would agree to ban production and use of nuclear weapons on their territory, he added, Poland and Czechoslovakia would do likewise.

He made a four-point proposal:

SANTA WILL ANSWER MAIL RECEIVED HERE
Every child who writes a letter to Santa and places it in the mail box on "Santa's Shanty" will, if he puts his return address on the letter, receive a reply, the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce announced today.

The mail box was affixed to the "Shanty" Thursday, and a number of letters have already been placed in it. Santa is at the "Shanty" on Lincoln Square each evening from 7 to 9 and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturdays.

Saturday the Jaycees will be out in force as hosts to some 30 children from Hoffman's Orphanage, who will be brought to Gettysburg about 1 p.m. in a bus provided by the Junior Chamber. The Jaycees, wearing armbands, will conduct the youngsters on a tour of stores after giving each of the children $4 with which to purchase Christmas presents for themselves or others as they wish.

Arrange For Bargains
The plans call for each Jaycee to accompany two or three children, and to go where they wish and to let them spend the money for whatever they want to buy, wherever they want to buy it.

William Lentz, general chairman of the committee in charge, said the Junior Chamber members will "act just as escorts, package carriers and at some time during the afternoon as the one to pay for a treat at some soda fountain."

Lentz said stores contacted had agreed that there will be some special bargains available at the moment when the youngsters buy—in order to help stretch the children's purchasing ability. Aiding Lentz on the committee in charge are Carroll Smith, Robert Hixon, Robert McClarin and Leonard Trent.

TEACHERS PLAN 3RD WORKSHOP ON CURRICULUM

Plans for the third annual curriculum workshop to be held next March 18 by the teachers of the Gettysburg Joint School System were announced at the December meeting of the Gettysburg Branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Association after school on Thursday in the Keefeauver Elementary School.

Air Force Sets New World Speed Record Of 1,207 MPH

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The U. S. Air Force brought the world air speed record back from Great Britain with a flight at 1,207.6 m.p.h. over this desert base.

Maj. Adrian E. Drew, 37, of Austin, Tex., piloted a McDonnell bomber to the record yesterday. He flew 75.5 m.p.h. faster than the mark of 1,132.1 set by P. L. Twiss March 19, 1956, in a British Fairey delta plane.

Drew also won the Thompson Trophy by eclipsing the American record of 1,015.4 m.p.h. set in 1956 by Navy Cmdr. R. W. Windsor in an F8U Crusader.

It was the second try this week for Maj. Drew. He flew at approximately 1,185 m.p.h. on Tuesday but a timing camera failure nullified the effort.

Drew's official record is below tudes. The Bell X2 reportedly has planes that fly at extreme altitudes. The top speed of military research hit 1,900 m.p.h. at 70,000 feet after being launched at lower altitude from a mother ship.

STEVENS OPENS NEW BYPASS AT YORK SPRINGS

(See page 4 for complete text of Secretary Stevens' address.)

Secretary of Highways Lewis M. Stevens Thursday afternoon cut a ribbon to open the new $1,230,000 York Springs bypass, first section of highway to be built in the state under the new 15-year Federal Aid program which went into effect in 1956.

A crowd of more than 300 braved the bitterly cold weather to attend the ceremony. Some remained in their cars to watch the official opening of the new four-lane divided highway which extends slightly more than three miles from south of York Springs to north of that community, and which overpasses the Carlisle-Hanover Rd. east of York Springs.

Secretary Stevens said the section is the first step in "a limited access highway from Harrisburg to Gettysburg."

Much Needed Road

Judge W. C. Sheely, in introducing Stevens, said, "Today is an important day in Adams County. For years we have looked on the York Springs intersection as a death trap. It was so usual for bad accidents to occur there that there was no need to take pictures in connection with the cases that came into court from that intersection. They were so frequent we merely kept (Continued on Page 4)

$14,700 SET AS DAMAGES FOR BYPASS AREA

A board of viewers has awarded James E. and Leila Jane Behney, York Springs R. D., $14,700 damages to their property caused by the construction of the York Springs bypass. The board, comprising Attorney J. Francis Yake Jr., LeRoy H. Winebrenner and P. Lawrence Hoover, filed its report with Clerk of Courts Kenneth H. Johns Thursday. If no objections are filed within 30 days the amount will be paid the York Springs area resident.

Behney's 16-acre property was in the path of the bridge and cloverleaf leading into the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd. where it passes over the Hanover-Carlisle pike east of York Springs in the new bypass which opened Thursday afternoon.

Had 9 Acres Left

After the state had taken the land it needed, Behney had nine acres and 45 perches remaining. His barn, house, and other buildings had to be razed, or moved, to build the road. Behney moved his house to the top of a hill overlooking the bypass, and east of the north cloverleaf leading into the bridge. The area was part of his property. Behney sought an entrance into the cloverleaf to give him access to what remained of his property, but was refused by the state. He secured a right of way over the land of neighbors to his home at its new location.

The state originally offered Behney $8,259 damages. When he refused, the board of viewers was named to determine the damages.

According to the papers filed by the board the commonwealth presented only one witness, local real estate agent Lee M. Hartman, who estimated the value of Behney's property at $9,224 and the value afterward at $1,000, a difference of (Continued on Page 9)

RACKETEER IS FOUND GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY

NEW YORK (AP)—A General Sessions Court jury found racketeer John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi guilty of extortion and conspiracy early today after deliberating 2 hours and 45 minutes.

Judge John A. Mullen set Jan. 8 for sentencing. The suave, 43-year old Dio, considered a kingpin in the New York underworld, faces a maximum sentence of 31 years. Johnny McNamara, president of Teamsters Local 295, also was found guilty of the same charge. He and Dio were accused of conspiring to commit extortion by shaking down two stationary firms for $4,700 in 1956.

Dio had escaped conviction last spring in the acid-blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel. But he was sentenced to two years imprisonment in September for extorting money from an employer in return for labor peace. The government had charged in the Dio-McNamara trial, which started Oct. 9, that the Tower-Crossman Corp. and the Atlas Stationery Corp. were forced to pay the defendants to avert unlawful picket lines and other obstructions to their business.

The long trial had gone to a jury of 10 men and two women last night after a day of summation by Asst. Dist. Atty. Alvin Goldstein. Neither McNamara nor Dio ever took the stand.

TWO OFFICERS HELD FOR COURT

Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore this morning held McSherrytown Chief of Police Mannard Masemer and Constable Raymond L. Reaver for court under $1,000 bail on charges of assault and battery. The justice held a hearing last Friday morning on charges of aggravated assault and battery brought against the two officers by Millard L. Waller, Conewago Twp., nearly-blind World War II veteran. At that time the justice withheld decision on the case until this morning.

In holding the men for court, Justice Basehore reduced the charge against them from aggravated assault and battery to "simple" assault. At the hearing last week the two had admitted grappling with Waller at his home in Conewago Twp. last month but denied they struck him. Waller had claimed they beat him about the eyes and had caused him to lose more of the sight in one eye. He is reportedly completely blind in the other eye.

According to their testimony at the hearing last week, the chief of police and constable had gone to the Waller home to protect Mrs. Waller, bearing with them a letter from a justice of the peace stating that Mrs. Waller should be given some furniture and articles which she wished from her home. Testimony showed an altercation between Waller and the two McSherrytown men concerning removal of the furniture. Waller claimed he was beaten but the two McSherrytown men who entered the Conewago Twp. home denied hitting Waller.

Kefauver Attacks Eisenhower Regime

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) last night urged the West to revise its foreign policy and attacked the Eisenhower administration for what he termed "gyrations" in its foreign policy.

Speaking at a bonds for Israel dinner honoring Rabbi Max D. Klein, spiritual leader of Congregation Adath Jeshurun, Kefauver said all free nations had geared their foreign policy to the opinion that the United States was supreme in power.

"The two Soviet Sputniks circling the world are daily reminders that in some fields this is no longer true," he added.

one so highly acclaimed. Incidentally she is the youngest graduate, 13, in history of the Santa Cecilia Conservatory of Rome. When she was 14 years of age she played at La Scala, top notch level for musicians.

Miss Franceschi was especially brilliant in her renditions of Frederic Chopin's selections, "Nocturne," "Two Waltzes," "Two Etudes" and "Ballade." The two études were played without interruption.

Miss Franceschi got out of a sick bed to fulfill her engagement in Gettysburg. Throughout her concert she explained each selection she played and each in turn was roundly applauded by her audience.

This was the second of three concerts to be given by the Gettysburg Concert Association this winter. The next will be the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra concert on March 12.

BULLETINS

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno prepared today to leave the country, for what is officially described as a rest, in the midst of a national crisis over the campaign against the Dutch. He denied he has been deposed.

The 56-year-old Sukarno, looking tired and tense, personally appeared before newsmen and denied reports from the Netherlands that he was a prisoner of the army and had been ousted from power. He laughed and smiled but refused to answer any questions.

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—A terrific explosion today rocked the Thiokol Chemical Corp. plant, manufacturers of rocket fuel.

State Police at nearby Conowingo said they understood three persons died in the blast. Four were hospitalized, one reported in critical condition.

The blast apparently wrecked one of the plant's three buildings.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said today the United States wants to work with the Soviet Union for peace. But he declared "mere coexistence while one side tries to bury the other is not the answer."

Lodge told the U.N.'s 82-nation Political Committee he welcomed any hopeful sign from the Russians, but the world could not accept one mild speech as proof that 40 years of Soviet policy had been discarded.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon missiles director William M. Holaday told investigating senators today this country will be able to launch large satellites whenever it wants to do so.

But Holaday told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee he could not go into detail at its public hearing because "it would be helpful to the Russians" to know exact U.S. plans.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army said today more than half the federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen still on duty in the Little Rock school crisis will be released next Wednesday.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said the force will be reduced from 950 to 432 because the situation remains stable and warrants further reduction.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

R. M. Baugher Heads County School Board: Members of the Adams County Board of School Directors at their annual organization meeting Friday evening named Raymond M. Baugher, New Oxford, as their new president and made preliminary plans to hold the annual county school directors convention in Littlestown on Friday, January 29.

Mr. Baugher, who served during the last year as board secretary, succeeds Clarence J. Waybright, Freedom township, in the presidency. Mr. Waybright was elected to Mr. Baugher's place as secretary. Other board officers did not change. Luther E. Jacobs, Highland township, is first vice president; Zeal R. Peters, Tyrone township, second vice president and Chester B. Worley, Latimore township, treasurer.

Requests Deerkins To Make Gloves, Vests For Fighters: Many deerkins, taken from bucks brought down this season by Adams county hunters, are being donated by the hunters to be used in making warm gloves for the men in the armed forces or for vests for our merchant seamen. Leo A. Bushman, county game protector, said today, Mr. Bushman already has received 25 or 30 of the skins. He urged other hunters to "help win the war" by giving their deerkins to be used in outfitting our fighting men.

Helen M. Conover, Local Teacher, Weds J. D. Harrow: At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in St. James Lutheran church, Miss Helen May Conover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Conover, 37 West Middle street, became the bride of J. Dalton Harrow, son of Mrs. Charlotte Harrow, of Boston. The single ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Ralph R. Gresh.

Council Votes Fund To Probe Buying Plant: The members of the Gettysburg borough council at their December meeting Monday evening gave Burgess Fred G. School Directors Re-elect Bankert: The Littlestown board of education at its reorganization meeting Monday evening re-elected Wilbur A. Bankert president and Edward K. Parr vice president. Bigler Pupils Earn $10,039 In Harvesting: Students at Biglerville high school earned a total of $10,039.26 assisting in the harvesting of crops this fall, it was revealed Wednesday by Prof. L. V. Stock, supervising principal of the Biglerville schools.

The survey was for the period with the Biglerville school closed two weeks and for the two-week period the school operated on short sessions.

Three Sons In Service: All three children, all boys, of the Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phiel family, Gettysburg, are now in service, one of the few "100 percent service homes" in this area.

About two years ago Eugene Phiel joined the Army. He is now at Birmingham, Ala.

Fifteen months ago Arthur Phiel Jr. joined the Army and is stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Tuesday, Richard Phiel, only remaining son and child at home, entered the service.

Supervisors Of County Elect Harry A. Eckert: Pledging their "100 per cent cooperation" in every branch of the war effort, the Adams county Township Supervisors and Auditors Association closed its twenty-fifth annual convention Thursday afternoon at the court house.

PEOPLE BELOVED
W. Robertson Nicoll, famous editor of the British Weekly, was one of the most beloved men of his day. J. M. Barrie spoke of him as so totally absorbed in his work that he seemed to meet each reader from each page, and said Barrie: "We his contributors, who helped him to however slight an extent, will miss him most of all, remembering his thousand kindnesses, his glorious enthusiasms, and the passion of his soul."

Nicoll took great pride in encouraging new and young promising writers, and he didn't believe in being sarcastic, or unkindly critical. The late Bob Davis was this sort of an editor. Scores of writers became famous because of his interest and faith in beginners. He often bought a contribution — not always using it — just to give encouragement to those who needed it.

In my early days in Chicago, fresh from college, I met a most extraordinary person. He was alone in the world, and so devoted his time to helping and boosting others. He had a fine education, was humorous and jolly, though he never had much money. As a retired minister he secured opportunities from time to time to preach, and from this small capital he gave and divided both his money and himself. He was beloved by all, especially children. He knew Shakespeare as most know their alphabet.

It was his sincerity of soul, his kindness in little things, his sympathy, his humility and his understanding, that made Abraham Lincoln one of the most beloved characters in the world. His fame keeps spreading from year to year. He was a genuine great!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Sleep."

Just Folks

A SPENDTHRIFT
I can shut my eyes to bargains
At the neckwear counter gay.
I can view a snap in underwear
And quickly turn away.
I can see the things I've wanted
At a modest price on show,
With the money in my pocket,
And without them I can go;
But I still remain a spendthrift
And I lose my careful poise
When I'm caught in the department
Where they're showing Christmas toys.

And I may go broke tomorrow,
But I never think of that;
And it may be that I ought to Spend my money for a hat.
But I gaze upon the soldiers
And the dolls and teddy bears,
And I quite forget I'm living
In a world beset with cares.
I can see the children dancing
With delight and hear their noise,
And I never think that money
Will buy anything but toys.

Army Air Cadet Hits Farm Barn On Night Flight: An Army air cadet on a training flight from the Gettysburg airport had an almost miraculous escape from death at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning when his plane crashed in the barn of C. Three Democrats Vote Advancements HARRISBURG (AP)—Three top Democrats in the state House of Representatives were moved up a rung on the leadership ladder yesterday, with Rep. H. G. Andrews (Cambria) taking over as floor leader.

Andrews, now assistant floor leader, was chosen at a meeting of the 84-member House Democratic caucus to succeed Albert S. Readinger of Reading, who is resigning his assembly office to become a Berks County judge Jan. 1.

Andrews previously was floor leader from the 1947 through the 1953 session and speaker of the house for the 1955 session.

Rep. Mary A. Varrallo of Philadelphia succeeds Andrews. Rep. Stephen McCann of Greene County succeeds Mrs. Varrallo as caucus chairman. Rep. George X. Schwartz of Philadelphia was named caucus secretary to replace McCann.

STEVENS' TEXT AT OPENING OF BYPASS ON 15

Following is the full text of the address prepared by Secretary of Highways Lewis M. Stevens for delivery at the ribbon cutting ceremonies at the York Springs bypass Thursday afternoon. Because of the cold weather, the secretary made only brief remarks.

The opening of a new section of highway is always an important event.

This is particularly true when the road involved is one of the state's principal traffic arteries such as U. S. Route 15.

Millions of travelers coming from all parts of the world use this road in their pilgrimages to the hallowed soil at Gettysburg.

"Substantial Step Forward"
The modernization of this historic route has been permitted to lag for too long. Other states which do not have the great historic shrines Pennsylvania possesses have been alert to opportunities for making tourist travel easier and safer.

This improvement then is a substantial step forward in Governor George M. Leader's dedicated program of bringing the Pennsylvania Highway System to top efficiency.

His determination to eliminate traffic hazards such as we have had on Route 15 is the reason for our being here today.

First In New Program
In fact this project was the first undertaken under the program made possible by the enactment of the Federal Highway Act of 1956.

The first public hearing in the state as provided for by the Federal Act was held at York Springs on August 18, 1956. Approval for construction of this project was promptly forthcoming from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

One of the compelling reasons for the prompt action on this project was the desire of the bureau and the department to eliminate the dangerous grade crossing where U. S. 15 and State Route 94 intersect.

More than 25 residents of York Springs testified at the public hearing. From all of them came the same testimony — the intersection was dangerous, it had been the scene of many tragic accidents. It should be eliminated.

Only Alternative
A few witnesses claimed the relocation might result in economic losses to them by diverting traffic from the old road on which their establishments were located.

They suggested that instead of the 3.39-mile relocation, a simple overpass bridging Route 94 would all of us must admit—however unwillingly—that government aid to higher education is just as essential to the nation's security as a stepped-up missile program."

Leader cited a need for more teachers, more opportunity for young people to attend college and restudy of the emphasis on high school and college courses.

This nation is in a "grim, technological race with Russia and our national survival is at stake," Leader said.

He added that in the century ahead "America will face challenges more demanding than any in her experience, and her shock troops will be the teachers."

be sufficient to reduce the accident rate.

If such an overpass was practical I am confident that our engineers would recommend its construction. I find, however, that such a structure would become obsolete within a few short years of completion. So a complete relocation was the only alternative.

Access to Route 94 and to the main section of York Springs is provided on this project with a series of ramps which will offer the highest type protection for local vehicular and pedestrian traffic. Through-traffic will flow smoothly and rapidly on the four-lane road.

Most Modern Type
This reconstruction project has cost the state and federal governments $1,230,000. As you can see, it represents the most modern type of highway construction. It is a typical example of what is being done to build roads which not only will handle today's traffic load but provides for expansions which are inevitable in the future.

In selecting the location, department engineers walked every foot of ground to find a route which was without blind curves and where it was possible to utilize the natural contours of the earth to ease heavy grades.

As we travel to the northern end of the project you will see the care which has gone into the construction of the large bridge which spans Route 94. This structure is not only sturdy but blends into the beauty of the countryside.

It might be argued that a million and a quarter is a high price to pay for a little more than three miles of highway. I say that if one life can be saved by the elimination of a death trap then the money has been well spent.

Controlled Access Feature
Another important feature is embodied in this project — that is the controlled access feature of highway construction. Controlled access is comparatively new, but in the opinion of highway experts and safety engineers it is the most important feature of the modern highway.

As the new Federal Highway Program expands, more emphasis is being placed on controlled access, not only in the necessity for reducing highway fatalities, but in the opportunity which it affords for opening new areas for industrial and residential development.

There are no grade crossings on controlled access highways and there is no necessity for traffic lights. The right-of-way is protected through the absence of commercial establishments directly on the roadway.

Every Safety Feature
At points where access is permitted, the road is designed so that visibility and speed will permit safe use of both the main highway and the connecting roads.

In the development of this project, highway engineers have designed a project which embodies every safety feature known to modern science. The earth median strip is wide enough to cut down headlight glare from cars approaching on the opposite lane.

Here is another hazard which has caused many costly accidents. In Pennsylvania, we have had only limited experience with controlled access. But already we have examples of how controlled access has stimulated activity in areas through which such highways pass.

The Schuylkill Express northward of Philadelphia brought luxury apartments to a former undeveloped area. Near the apartments a great oil concern erected headquarters, and this is only the start of development of the area.

Benefit To Route 15
We know from studies in other states with longer experience with planned access highways that they are beneficial to a region.

Business and industries, in looking for new locations, seek good transportation facilities. The final decision on where to locate takes highways into consideration, particularly because truck transportation has become increasingly significant since the end of the second world war.

Modernization of Route 15 will make this highway an important economic lifeline in Pennsylvania. The highway will be a safe and efficient means of moving people and goods. Highways intersecting it probably will become more important than they were in the past. Now they will be more heavily used as feeder routes and hence far more valuable for commercial and residential development.

Controlled access highways will provide the arteries to give a wider choice of living places, a wider locale in which to look for jobs and easier access to recreation.

Other Improvements
Another important section on Route 15 is now under construction from the turnpike intersection south to Dillsburg. This too will be controlled access. The dangerous underpass at Rose Garden will be entirely eliminated by the construction of a high bridge over Yellow Breeches Creek. The cost of this improvement is $3,165,482.

I do not have the fatality statistics on this section of the old road, but I am told that there have been many tragic accidents there.

While the federal government is willing and ready to join in financing new roads, the Commonwealth must bear part of the burden. Route 15 is classified as a primary road and is entitled to 50 per cent of the cost from the federal government. The state must provide the other 50 per cent.

Makes Prediction
Our ability to completely modernize a road such as Route 15 is limited entirely by the availability of funds. In other words the department must proceed within the strict limitations of our cash receipts. We have the engineering skill and the planning ability to design the new roads. The next thing we can do is to select those sections of a road which give immediate traffic relief and which we know will conserve lives and property. That is what we are doing here.

We are aware of the tremendous pressure on Gettysburg brought about by increasing vehicular traffic which pours into the town from the Lincoln Highway and from Route 15. Any long range program must include a comprehensive plan to relieve this situation. I venture to predict that the time is not too far distant when the department will be able to give serious consideration to this major engineering and construction undertaking.

HERSHEY HIGH LOOKS GOOD IN SP CAGE RACE

(Editor's note: This is one in a series of articles dealing with basketball prospects of South Penn Conference teams.)

HERSHEY — Barry Daniels is back and the future is bright once again at Hershey High School.

The dandy little shotmaker has returned to action and Coach Frank Kamus' stock is booming in the fast Southern Pennsylvania Conference.

Daniels, 5-9 veteran, had decided to pass up basketball this season, but he changed his mind and a smile has returned to Trojan fans.

As a Junior, Daniels was one of the leading scorers in the South Penn with 284 points, an average of 18.9 for the 15 games in which he saw action. He missed being named All-Conference by one point.

Two years ago, in his Sophomore season, Daniels made his appearance in high school competition and earned second team ranking in the All-South Penn ballot.

The speedy 170-pounder is joined by veteran Lee Moyer in making this year's Hershey High entry one that could bear watching in South Penn firing.

Moyer, 6-2 Senior, won the respect of the conference coaching fraternity for his rebounding prowess last season and will be a tough man to move under the boards again this winter.

Hershey graduated Barry Reilly, John Fetterhoff and Larry Faust from its starting unit of a year ago, but other lads with a backlog of varsity experience appear ready to move in.

They include Fritz Schiller 6-0, Carl Seavers 5-10, John Hummer 5-6, Wayne Faust 5-10 and Jim Rippon 5-7. A sophomore of much promise is 5-9 Jim Price.

TEACHERS PLAN STEVENS OPENS

teacher at Keefe School, reported she attended the House of Delegates Southern Convention district conference at Hershey early in November when plans were made for the annual PSEA convention to be held during the Christmas vacation at Harrisburg.

John O'Brien, chairman of the Salary committee, and Miss N. Louise Ramer, chairman of the Future Teachers of America, also gave brief reports.

The teachers were reminded of the annual PSEA convention to be held at Harrisburg December 26 to 28. Mrs. Swisher will be the delegate from the local group and James Feather will be the alternate.

Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegle spoke briefly and thanked the teachers for their "fine interest and cooperation" in helping make his first year as superintendent "such a pleasant one." He assured the teachers of his interest in their work and asked their continued help in improving the local school system.

Rev. Herman G. Stuenkel Jr., giving the invocation, prayed that the road might be a way of life, "rather than death" and that the use of the road may lead to increased "respect for law and reverence for life."

George W. Miller, secretary of the Gettysburg Motor Club, who served as general chairman for the road dedication, introduced a number of guests including Fred G. Klunk, deputy secretary of Property and Supplies; County Commissioners E. Donald Scott, Blaine Bushey and George Kane; William Miller of the Harrisburg Motor Club, William Helsey of the York club and others.

The York Springs High School band played two selections including the national anthem at the opening of the ceremony.

Secretary Stevens cut two of the ribbons across the highway at the south end of the bypass. The cavalcade then proceeded to the north end where Judge Sheely and others cut the ribbons across the highway at that point.

Immediately after the ceremony state highway workmen removed the barricades at each entrance.

Irvin Houck, Hanover, reported a number of fire companies in the county have sent applications in to Civil Defense Headquarters for matching funds for monitor radios and "walkie-talkie" radios.

Capitani Chalks Up 29 Points To Lead Bullets To 81-62 Win Over W. Md.

Usually the name of Frank Capitani is synonymous with Gettysburg College football activity but Thursday evening it took its place in basketball as the Hershey Hurricane, drawing his first starting assignment of the season, poured 29 points through the hoops to lead the Bullet cagers to their first victory, 81-62 over Western Maryland at Westminster. It was the Terror's third loss in four tries.

Capitani bagged 11 goals on but 14 tries from the field and sank seven of seven foul tries. Last year Capitani did not participate in basketball after performing during his sophomore year.

The Bullets were a much-improved outfit over their showing against Bucknell. They led the entire way and collected 35 goals on 66 tries.

Stan Traymore and Frank Grzelecki stabbed goals in the first minute of action and Bob Hulton's charges led the remainder of the way. Midway in the half Gettysburg built up a 15-7 lead and with about 7:30 remaining was on top 11-11.

Terrors Spurt

The Terror, led by Chandler, started to close the gap in the late minutes of the half narrowed the margin to 23-21. Capitani and Sullivan exchanged goals. Bob Wallick and Sullivan also matched goals in that order. Capitani hit on a set before Chandler scored from inside. Just before the half ended Capitani drove through for another goal to give the Bullets a 31-27 lead at intermission.

St. Louis Hawks Upsets Celts Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Are the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn. finally getting their just due after rubbing it in the other NBA clubs so far this season?

At first glance it would seem so. The Celts lost their second game this week. This doesn't throw any jeopardy into their eight-game Eastern Division lead, but it shows it can be done. The St. Louis Hawks were the assailants, knocking off the champs in the first game of a Philly doubleheader, 97-94, after which the Detroit Pistons defeated the Philadelphia Warriors, 103-96.

They were the only NBA games scheduled last night.

second half the Bullets rocketed their lead to 36-27 on goals by Del Warfel and Capitani and a pair of fouls by the latter. That spurt broke the Terror's resistance. Midway in the half the Bullets led 64-44.

Both squads showed good marksmanship from the foul line. Gettysburg connected on 11 of but 13 tries while Western Maryland sank 20 of 27.

Grzelecki led in rebounding for the Bullets by grabbing 16.

The Bullets (4-3) meet Wagner (2-1) here Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be no preliminary.

EAGLES, CARDS PLAY SATURDAY IN BIG WEEKEND

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The last big weekend of the National Football League season gets off to a dull start tomorrow but things will be tense in the west Sunday.

Philadelphia and the Chicago Cardinals, Eastern Conference cellar dwellers, meet in tomorrow's nationally televised (CBS) game here. The Eagles will be seeking their fifth victory and the Cards their third.

The New York Giants and the Eastern champion Cleveland Browns play in Sunday's televised game at New York, announced as a sellout.

Could Settle Tie
The three-way tie among Baltimore, Detroit and San Francisco in the Western Conference could be settled Sunday if two of the three lose or if two tie and the third wins. A number of other combinations would produce a playoff, however.

The reason is that the leaders play the bottom three teams in a six-team conference.

FROZEN TRACK ENDS PIMLICO SEASON EARLY

BALTIMORE (AP)—Faced with a frozen track, reluctant trainers and balky jockeys, Pimlico closed out its 1957 racing season yesterday five days early. It is within the realm of possibility that Old Hilltop closed its gates for good.

About 1,000 fans, including a hardy 80 from New York, were in the stands when Executive Director Lou Pondfield announced an hour before post time that the day's card was canceled. He was forced to the decision by the jockeys, who voted in a jockey room meeting not to ride.

Pondfield got in touch with D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the and asked that the remaining five days of the 26-day meeting be dropped for this year. The commission approved.

To Refund Money

The tour agency which hauled the 80 New York fans to Baltimore agreed to refund their money.

While the track appeared to be in excellent condition, the top layer—or cushion—consisted of frozen mud clods while the bottom, because of its frozen condition, had no resiliency.

The mud clods frightened the jockeys and the unyielding bottom upset the horsemen. By 11:10 a.m. the field for the feature race had been scratched to three or four horses, Steward Wilmer Brinton said.

It is possible that Pimlico will not be operating at its present stand in 1958. A bill will be considered by the 1958 Legislature which would permit Pimlico to hold its 40 days of racing at Laurel, after closing down Old Hilltop.

Arendt's Given Baseball Trophy

A large 22-inch engraved gold trophy, emblematic of winning the regular season and playoff championships of the South Penn Baseball League, was presented to Jim Spence, manager of the title-winning Arendtsville outfit, at a league meeting Thursday evening at the American Legion Home. The presentation was made by Robert Krichen, league president.

Forfeit money from the 1957 season was returned to team managers.

A reorganization meeting for the 1958 season will be held February 21 at the Legion Home.

OREGON STATE BEATS SEATTLE; TAR HEELS WIN

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Holiday tournaments begin to roll tonight, but otherwise there's no change in college basketball. North Carolina still is unbeaten.

There was one upset, of sorts, last night as Oregon State rapped Seattle 63-55, but the national champion Tar Heels rolled their 35th consecutive success with a 91-74 job on winless Furman.

Some less pretentious winning strings are on the line tonight. Five unbeaten clubs are among the 12 teams in the Birmingham Classic, the Steel Bowl and the University of Cincinnati tournaments.

The top game, tourneywise, pairs Texas Christian (3-0) and Auburn (2-0) at Birmingham after Mississippi State (4-0) plays Miami of Florida (3-1).

At Cincinnati, the host Bearcats (2-0) play St. Bonaventure (3-0) and Xavier of Ohio (3-0) meets Marshall (1-1).

It's Pitt (2-0) vs. George Washington (0-3), and Duquesne (1-1) vs. Miami of Ohio (2-1) at Pittsburgh.

The top-ranked Tar Heels went to work early, leading 19-8 after four minutes, but had to dissolve a Furman zone defense before winning their third of the season. The champs got 31 points from senior Pete Brennan and 26 from sophomore Lee Shaffer.

Cut Off Star

Oregon State (3-0) stuck 6-9 Wayne Moss and 6-8 Gary Goble on 6-6 Elgin Baylor under the basket and shut off the Seattle star with 17 points. Dave Gamble, who shadowed Baylor outside, was high scorer with 18.

Louisville had it easy in an 89-65 decision over previously unbeaten Iona with Roger Tieman scoring 22 points. St. John's of Brooklyn (4-0) had a tussle, but defeated Washington & Lee 85-73 in the other half of the Madison Square Garden twin bill. Dom Flora was the whole show for the Generals with 21 points.

A zone defense again gave Texas A&M trouble while Richmond got points from all but one of its 12 men in a 70-50 victory. Oklahoma defeated Southern Methodist 66-58 with Joe King scoring 23. Both clubs hit less than a third of their shots as Iowa State defeated Brigham Young 54-45 on the 20-point work of John Crawford and a 63-47 edge in rebounds.

TWO BATTLING BELGIANS BEAT SEIXAS, MULLOY

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Belgium's Jackie Brichant and Philippe Washer staggered America's booming Davis Cup hopes with a fighting doubles exhibition today which upset Uncle Sam's prize team of Vic Seixas and Gardnar Mulloy.

Their backs to the wall after the U.S. open singles triumph yesterday, the veteran tandem from Brussels won 7-5, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 to keep alive the Interzone Final, which now will be decided by tomorrow's two final singles.

The United States leads 2-1.

Meets Old Nemesis

Herbie Flam, comeback winner over Brichant, will face Washer and Seixas will meet his old nemesis Brichant, who licked him in a tremendous surprise here in the 1953 Interzone Final.

On the basis of today's play there was no definite assurance America will go into the Challenge Round against Australia at Melbourne Dec. 26-28.

Brichant and Washer, nervous and unsure of themselves in the opening singles, seemed to snap back into top form.

If the United States win through to the Challenge Round—and they should—Captain Bill Talbert may have to experiment with a new doubles combination.

Mulloy In Slump

Mulloy, a 44-year-old veteran from Miami, Fla., failed to show the speed and reflexes needed in big-time tennis, although he probably is suffering a temporary slump.

His volley errors and service failures were largely responsible for the U.S. defeat.

Brichant, the scrappy 27-year-old Belgian, was easily the star of the day's show. He lost only one service and played dynamic tennis from start to finish. He troubled Mulloy and Seixas with his lopping forehand and backhand drives and whenever the Belgians needed a point it seemed Brichant always was there to hit a killing overhead or put away a sharp volley.

Seixas played well but he lost his service twice at critical stages and over-all he was not up to the standard of the court-covering, slashing Brichant.

Mulloy lost his service four times, three times in a row in the first and second sets and it was the loss of his delivery which cost the Americans the fourth and last set.

200 AT NINTH SCHOOL DINNER ON THURSDAY

Over 200 were in attendance at the ninth annual personnel dinner of the Littlestown Joint School System Thursday evening in the Rolling Acres Elementary School auditorium. "An Old Fashioned Christmas" was the theme of the evening and was carried out from the moment the guests entered the foyer until they left the auditorium.

A lighted, decorated Christmas tree was among decorations in the foyer which included marble top tables with coal oil lamps and hot spiced cranberry juice was served to the guests as an appetizer. The hostesses, Mary Ritter, Gloria Burgoon, Sandra Woodward and Joyce Barnes, were attired in colonial costumes.

A full course turkey dinner, prepared by the school cafeteria staff, was served by student waiters, complete with white coats and accessories. A highlight of the serving was a procession by the waiters, with head waiter Larry Hawk carrying a flaming pudding while the group sang "We Wish You a Merry Christmas." The waiters were Larry Hawk, Ronald Crouse, Charles Hawk, Robert Nester, Richard Mackley, Larry Bair, Ned Little, Karl Bankert, William Sterner, Ben Lawrence, Larry Unger, Robert Benner, Norman Wildasin, Ronald Feaser, Kenneth Bucher, Dennis Chuck, Jack Ketterman, Douglas Leatherman, Fred Hahn, Donald Sell, Eugene Sentz, Donald Snyder, Nevin Wintrose, Michael Collins, James Patterson, Hugh Roberts, Jesse Sheely, Fred Dutterer, Ernest Spamer, James Mummert, George Collins, Edward Knipple, Bruce Stair, Ronald Brown.

King Toastmaster

Paul E. King, supervising principal of the Littlestown Joint School System, was toastmaster. Mrs. Myrtle Manthey led the salute to the flag and the table blessing was a vocal solo by Robert Deardorff. Group singing was led by Mrs. Elmira Deardorff, vocal music instructor at the school. Donna Rabenstein, a student, provided dinner music on the organ. A special musical program, "Christmas Wonderland," was presented, with an outdoor country winter scene as the stage setting. The music of bells was first heard, and off-stage the student chorus sang "Silver Bells."

On stage, the chorus sang "Winter Wonderland" while two of the group built a snow man; the two, Eileen Crouse and Fred Warner sang as a duet "Frosty, the Snow Man," and the concluding selection by the chorus was "White Christmas." The singers were John Groff, Larry Unger, Charles Hawk, Michael Collins and Fred Warner; Evelyn Breighner, Shirley Showmaker, Arlene Franks and Eileen Crouse.

Hear Otis Morse

The speaker, Otis Morse, administrative assistant to Governor George M. Leader, who has been active in radio and television and is known in the community for his work in broadcasting football games at Gettysburg College, was introduced by Mr. King. The speaker stated that "the teacher today is doing the best possible job under the most difficult circumstances" and said that "when the over brilliant student finds his lessons dull, he is about to become a problem and the teacher must be ready in advance; the same is true of the slow child; in both cases the teacher must learn to see the child's point of view, and try to do something about it." To conclude his talk, Mr. Morse read the story "The Littlest Angel."

Wilbur E. Mackley, president of the Jointure Board, spoke briefly, as did C. P. Keefe, superintendent of the Adams County Schools. The men of the group received cigars and the women were presented with trivets as gifts. The meal was served by candlelight, with the centerpieces on each of the 17 tables, the old-fashioned black wood candle molds upside down to serve as holders for the six white candles, and placed in the center to trays of fruit. These were made by the Industrial Arts Department, Ronald Hall, supervisor. The program

County Files Suit In Bridge Contract

A claim for $1,824 was filed in York County Thursday by Adams County Commissioners for the use of Jesse N. Aycock Contractor, Inc., Camp Hill, in a suit filed against W. D. Drawbaugh, Dover R. 2. Emrich Construction Company, Manchester R. 1, and American Automobile Insurance Company of Missouri.

A statement filed by Attorneys Henry E. Harner and William W. Wogan says that Aycock furnished two cranes and personnel to operate them in connection with the construction of Baugher's and Deardorff's Burnt Mill bridges over Opossum Creek in Adams County. The statement says the prime contractors, Drawbaugh and Emrich, have refused to pay for the services provided by Aycock.

"I WELCOME HOLIDAYS"
Some people say that holidays are just for making money . . . for with a pocketful of gold . . . the skies are always sunny . . . but I for one do not agree . . . with what some people say . . . to me there's nothing better than . . . a festive holiday . . . each holiday affords to me . . . a special kind of thrill . . . the friendliness and brotherhood . . . renews my faith and will . . . whatever the occasion be . . . we gain more than we give . . . we rest or frolic as we choose . . . time is our own to live . . . a day of change is tonic for . . . the troubles of mankind . . . giving us the chance to think . . . and gather peace of mind . . . that's why I welcome holidays . . . though some come very high . . . they are well worth the price we pay . . . on that you can rely.

RAILS, STEELS GAIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails and steels showed a bulge to the upside as the market moved higher early today but the rest of the list looked irregular.

Nonferrous metals drifted off, motors and aircrafts were mixed and little movement was apparent among chemicals and oils.

The advances and declines were mostly kept within a point's range for key stocks. Among specialties there were wider moves.

countries. The Soviet Union announced it was sending notes to all U.N. member countries warning that the danger of nuclear war was greatly increased.

The announcement — broadcast by Moscow radio — called for immediate action to "prevent a war and improve relations between countries."

Greece Wins Victory
Elsewhere in the U.N., Greece scored a victory when the Political Committee approved a hotly disputed resolution affirming the right of the people of Cyprus to decide their own political future. The vote was only 33-20, however, not enough to assure the required two-thirds majority when the issue goes before the Assembly.

Britain's strategically located Mediterranean island colony has been torn by violence stemming from demands by Greek Cypriots for independence and eventual union with Greece. The Turkish minority on Cyprus bitterly opposes the idea, preferring to remain with Britain or have the island partitioned.

THE WINDOW

There is a store that is displaying this scene of Christ's birth in all its beautiful simplicity.

People walk by the window and stop and look—and when they go on again the tired lines seem to be erased from their faces. For the moment, they have forgotten the "hustle and bustle" of holiday preparations. Instead, the peace of Christmas drifts over them like the softly falling snow.

Look at those beautifully carved figures and at that tiny babe. Makes you realize, doesn't it, that Christmas after all, is the birth day of our Lord, and should be celebrated first of all where most birthdays are celebrated—at home. In this case, that means the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CHRISTIAN JOY

Philippians 4:1-13

Key Verse: My God will supply every need of yours according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus.

Philippians 4:19.

With Christmas merchandise attractively arranged in every shop window and business districts a blaze of colored lights, it seems natural to think of Christmas joy. Do these material gifts really bring joy? Real Christmas joy has nothing to do with the giving or receiving of personal gifts. It is a time when a Christian opens his heart to receive the Christ Child and to dwell upon the fact of the incarnation.

Our lesson has to do with Christian joy — the kind that Paul experienced when he sat in the prison at Rome and wrote a letter to his dear friends and brethren at Philippi. This is known to have been the last letter he wrote in prison, so it must have been toward the end of his imprisonment. He was released and had a chance to visit Philippi again, but was rearrested. Actually, Paul must have known he was facing martyrdom but he had no fears.

Live Close To Christ

Paul's experience and that of other rejoicing believers proves that Christian joy is not produced by favorable conditions nor taken away by those that are not favorable. Paul knew an inner peace which comes from living close to Christ. Death had no horror for him because He would go to his loving heavenly Father. His feeling of joy was one that transcended human joy.

The second reason for joy was the fact that his Christian friends in Philippi remembered him and supplied his needs, that a bond of fellowship and service united them. These fellow laborers for Christ were also faced with persecution and they needed his encouragement to face the testing. So he wrote, "Therefore, my brethren, whom I love and long for, my joy and my crown, stand firm thus in the Lord, my beloved." The "crown" symbolizes victory for it was used in Paul's day to describe the garland bestowed upon the victor in a Greek game.

Along with his words of appreciation, Paul gave much practical counsel. He advises them not to have disagreements or squabbling among each other because they needed to stand and work together

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Richard escapes from Ignatz' palace. He meets an old woman who says she will take him to someone who talks to witches who might know the way to Santa Land.

CHAPTER NINE
THE OLD, OLD WOMAN
Richard and the old woman arrived at a lonely little house in a neighboring forest.

"This is the house of one who talks to witches," said the old woman. "I'll leave you here to see her alone."

Before Richard could protest the woman darted away. Richard turned and timidly knocked at the door of the little house. There was no answer and Richard knocked again. This time he knocked harder and the door crashed open.

He fell back in alarm as the witch woman appeared in the doorway. The axe woman had been old but the witch woman was twice as old. Her hands were twisted bones. Her cheeks sagged. Her eyes were little black holes sunk in her head.

"What is all this whamming, clanging noise out here?" she creaked.

"Oh, ma'am," said Richard. "Can you show me the way to Santa Land?"

"What?" snorted the old, old woman. "How should I know such a thing? Who are you anyway and where do you come from?"

"I—I am a prince," stammered Richard. "And I must get to Santa Claus to save my father's kingdom. They say you talk to witches and goblins and I—I thought they might tell you the way for me to go."

The old, old woman shook her head. "Neither witch nor goblin has visited me for a long, long time. This forest has become too busy a place for them to come." She wiped her eyes with the edge of her apron. "I miss them," she sniffed. "Oh, I am so lonely without my witch and goblin friends."

"But where are they?" cried Richard. "Where do they stay?"

The old, old woman motioned towards the far away mountains. "Over there, I expect. It's a lonely place where no man has ever set foot. That's the sort of place witches and goblins like. Oh, if only my house were there."

"If I move your house there, will you ask them for me the way to Santa Land?" asked Richard.

"What is this whamming, clanging noise?"

"What?" cried the old, old woman in astonishment.

"Will you?" insisted Richard. "Will you?"

The old, old woman nodded her head in a puzzled way. She was too amazed to speak.

Richard crawled under the house. He bent his knees and put his back against the bottom of the house. He pushed and pushed and pushed. His face turned red and the perspiration ran down his back. The old, old woman shook her head. "The boy's daft," she muttered. "He's out of his head."

But even as she spoke there was a ripping noise and Richard was standing there with the house on his shoulders.

The old, old woman gasped. Then she hobbled away through the forest. "This way," she croaked. "This way!" Richard staggered after her.

It was a long way and it took all day, but when evening came the old, old woman stopped and said, "Here. Here is a place they're bound to be."

Richard looked around and he thought that indeed it was a place surely meant for witches and goblins. It was high on a rocky mountain side. There were black caves in the sides of the mountain and rocks piled into eerie shapes as if giants had been playing blocks there.

Richard set down the house and the old, old woman rushed in and began to put things to rights.

"Will they come?" asked Richard anxiously.

"They'll come tonight," she said. "I'm certain of it."

She built a fire and sat down at the hearth. "Come now. We'll sit here and wait."

But hardly had Richard sunk down beside her when there was a swishing down the chimney and a flash of lightning in the window and a scratching at the door, and Richard knew the witches had come.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state Public School Building Authority has received three unofficial low bids for construction of a new elementary school in Halifax Twp., Dauphin County:

General Construction — S. H. Evert Co., Inc., Bloomsburg, $596,200; heating-ventilation — McClure Co., Harrisburg, $124,405; plumbing — Smith-Hoopers Inc., Harrisburg, $80,000; electric — General Electrical Service Co., Inc., Harrisburg, $98,877.

WAVERLY, N. Y. (AP)—Miss Marilyn Van Noy, 23, of Troy R. 4 Pa., was killed Wednesday when the automobile in which she was a passenger struck a tree eight miles west of here.

Penn State Coed Phones From Denver

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—A Penn State coed telephoned her mother from Denver, Colo., Thursday, dispelling fears that had arisen since the girl left the university Monday.

Mrs. George Miller, of Williamsport, told state police she talked with her daughter, Sally Lee Ertel, 18, and that the girl was staying with an uncle in Denver.

Police had put out a missing persons teletype message when the university reported the girl missing without having signed out.

University sources said Miss Ertel, told friends, she left the university "to look for a job." She was reported to have taken a bus to Pittsburgh.

Fewer New Cases Of Illness Found

WASHINGTON (AP)—New cases of respiratory disease serious enough to involve at least one day in bed numbered 4,067,000 in the week ended Nov. 16, the S. Public Health Service estimated Thursday.

This was a reduction of about 65 per cent from the estimate of 11,993,000 for the week ended Oct. 19, which is regarded as having been about the peak week in the Asian flu epidemic.

The estimated number of new cases of acute upper respiratory diseases involving one or more days in bed dropped for four successive weeks from Oct. 19 to Nov. 16.

"This decline came at a time of year when respiratory disease cases are ordinarily rising and is probably attributable to the fall in the number of new cases of Asian flu since influenza is included in these totals," the service said.

Girl Saves Baby, Then Suffocates

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 17-year-old girl suffocated Thursday after dropping her five-year-old cousin to safety from a second-floor window when a blaze damaged a brick row house in South Philadelphia.

Firemen found the victim, Olivia Collins, collapsed across a bed on the second floor.

Roslyn Payne, the victim's cousin, was burned seriously and was listed in critical condition at the Philadelphia General Hospital. Her mother, Mrs. Novella Payne, 52, suffered a leg fracture in a leap from a second-floor window.

The dead girl's brother, Barry Collins, 8, was treated for minor burns. Both Collins children lived with the Payne family.

LABOR LEADER FINED, JAILED

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Nicholas A. Stitron, head of a common laborers union, was fined $5,000 and given a 3-year federal prison term Thursday for extorting $31,274 from a contractor.

Stitron was sentenced by U. S. District Judge John L. Miller. Stitron's attorney, Vincent M. Casey, said he will file an appeal with the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals.

Pending the appeal, Judge Miller raised Stitron's bond from $1,000 to $5,000.

Stitron, president of Laborers District Council and Local 1058 of the AFL Construction, General Laborers and Materials Handling Union, was convicted under the Hobbs Anti-racketeering Act. That makes it a federal offense to extort money by threats of strikes or other labor troubles.

At Stitron's trial, William S. Rider, a concrete contractor, testified that Stitron demanded money as a guarantee that Rider would have no labor troubles.

At the time, Rider said, he was supplying concrete for construction of a new steel mill.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday held his final meeting with the National Security Council before he departs for the NATO summit session.

Eight members of the delegation which will back up Eisenhower at the Paris meetings were present at Thursday's session. About 20 officials attended.

Gas Main Breaks; Save 700 Families

MAYVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Seven hundred families trooped through foot-deep snow to heated public buildings Thursday after a gas main break left their homes freezing in zero weather.

All across New York, shovellers and plows battled as much as 14 inches of new snow. More was falling in some sections.

Four traffic deaths were blamed on the weather.

After the gas main broke at 4 a.m. in this small village in southwestern New York, firemen shepherded the families to heated buildings. Snow measured a foot to 14 inches.

CROPS DAMAGED BY COLD SPELL IN SOUTHEAST

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Record cold spread over large areas of the Southeast today, damaging crops and crimping winter vacation sports.

The belt of subzero cold dipped as far south as Tennessee. Ice was a common sight in the central and northern sectors of the Florida citrus belt.

The Arctic weather was blamed for at least 16 deaths.

The Florida freeze was the worst in 23 years, and another freeze was forecast.

The remaining winter vegetable crop in the truck growing section around Plant City, Fla., appeared to be wiped out. Strawberries were hard hit.

Readings of 22 degrees were recorded in some rural areas. Crestview, Fla., had a low of 18.

WANT TO BUILD ATOMIC POWER FACTORY IN U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two industrial firms want to build an atomic power plant which would be the first of its kind in the United States.

The Atomic Energy Commission Miami 35, and West Palm Beach 31, the lowest ever recorded there. Other readings included:

Shreveport, La., 19, the lowest in 88 years of Weather Bureau records; Tampa, Fla., 27, tying the record low for the date set in 1934; Crossville, Tenn., 15; Baltimore, 12, a record low for the date.

The Arctic blasts sweeping waters of the Great Lakes triggered heavy snowstorms in some sections.

Up to 14 inches of snow fell in parts of New York State. Cleveland had 7 inches, but the fall reached 12 inches in the hills of Geauga County some 30 miles east of the city. Heavy snow also fell in parts of New England.

announced Wednesday that it had received a proposal to build the plant from Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Whether the plant actually would be built depends on the success of further research and development during the next two years. A decision will be made then.

The two companies spent 5½ million dollars of their own money in the last two years developing the reactor for the plant.

Now they seek $7,300,000 from the AEC for another two years of development and research and up to 18 million dollars during construction time and the first five years of operation.

The plant would cost about $7 million dollars and would have a generating capacity of from 70,000 to 150,000 electric kilowatts.

The project is unique in that the plant would have a so-called "homogeneous" type of reactor — meaning that fuel and coolant material are mixed together homogeneously. Another unusual feature of the reactor is that it would use both thorium and uranium as fuel.

The AEC said that many problems remain to be solved "before this type of advanced reactor can be utilized for the commercial generation of electric power."

DUTTERERS TO OPEN NEW RESTAURANT ON SATURDAY

The grand opening of Dutterer's Restaurant, the community's newest and most modern, equipped eating place, will take place on Saturday. The restaurant, covering 1,750 square feet, will be located at 50 S. Queen St., in the former E. A. Rebert building, which previously housed White's.

The place of business will be operated by Shirley and Wilmer Dutterer, who recently purchased the property, and who have been serving the community for the last four years at Sonny's Lunch, in the basement room of the L. D.

Patterson building on S. Queen St. Sonny's Lunch will remain open and will continue to feature home-made soups and sandwiches.

The new restaurant will specialize in sea foods and steaks and will also serve homemade soups and pies, from 6 a.m. to midnight daily. There will be special children's platters and special noonday platters.

Dutterer's Restaurant is completely new on the inside with a gray, blue and pink color scheme. One portion of the restaurant will be devoted to dining table space, the other section to booths and two lunch counters.

Free Coffee Opening Day

The kitchen will be located in the rear of the building with an inter-com system to the restaurant proper. Louis A. Weiss, York, installed a greater part of the equipment, with the booths and tables being made by Charles M. Morehead and Sons. George W. Strevig did the plumbing and heating and Noah M. Dutch Business Wild; Leader Maybe Ousted

AMSTERDAM (U) — Amsterdam business circles were thrown into wild confusion this afternoon by unconfirmed reports President Sukarno of Indonesia had been ousted.

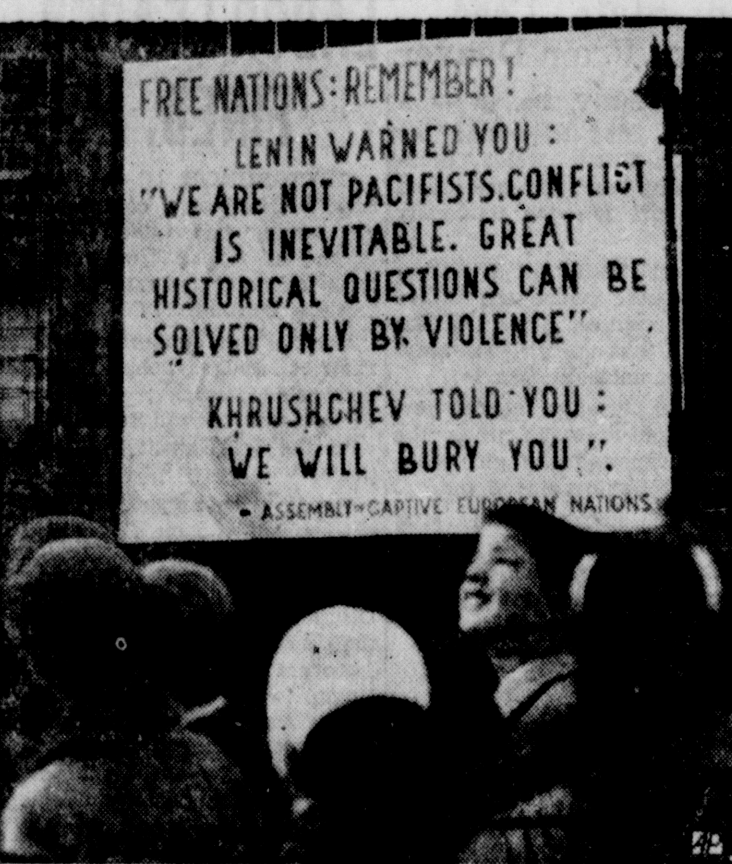

Rumors swept the stock exchange that the island of Sumatra had declared itself independent and that fights were raging in Jakarta streets.

The rumors said that a triumvirate headed by former ice President Mohammed Hatta had taken over the government.

Other members of the triumvirate was in charge of the carpenter work and David S. Kammerer Jr., the painting. Samuel A. Harnish installed the inter-com system; William R. Keefer, the neon and plexiglas sign on the outside of the building, and Kenneth T. Eyler, the awning. Supplies were furnished by I. D. Crouse and Son.

Fresh rolls will be supplied daily by Weikert's Bakery, and Feeser's Dairy will be exclusive suppliers of milk. Sealtest ice cream by Southern Dairies will be featured, and meats from Patterson's Meat Market.

Free coffee will be available to all patrons, tomorrow, opening day, and there will be a door prize. The floral decorations in the restaurant show windows are by Koons' Florist.

LARGER EARTH SATELLITES ARE OF GREAT VALUE

WASHINGTON (U) — An Army missile expert said today larger earth satellites have "tremendous military significance." He indicated development of such devices could be speeded if money is available.

Brig. Gen. J. A. Barclay, deputy commander of the Army's Ballistics Missiles Agency at Redstone Arsenal in Alabama, said: "The scientific importance of satellite projects is uppermost in our minds at the moment. But larger carriers, propelled into orbit by larger rockets, have tremendous military significance also."

Seeing Eye Unexcelled

"For purposes of continuing reconnaissance over the entire surface of the globe, the ever-seeing eye in outer space is unexcelled. Other possibilities are opening before us, ours for the taking, if our people are now in a mood to commit the resources necessary to the task and to put first things first."

Barclay's remarks were made in a speech prepared for the National Security Industrial Assn. Barclay said he was unable to discuss fully missile programs because of national security. But he added: "I ask you to bear in mind that more of the iceberg remains concealed than can be revealed."

Missiles May Replace Airplanes — The general also indicated he thinks missiles may soon replace airplanes in the nation's arsenal.

The aviation industry, he said, "is now on plain notice that the airplane, as a weapons system, will give way to the guided missile in the not too distant future." Barclay said the point may have been reached where the use of hydrogen weapons is unlikely. "We may have reached the stage in the development of thermonuclear weapons at which these monstrous creations tend to cancel out," he said.

"In such circumstances, their employment in all but direct need or sheer madness becomes unlikely. Nevertheless we must insure the existence of the capability."

EXPLORATORY NEGOTIATIONS RECOMMENDED

By ERNEST B. VACCARO — WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) proposed today that President Eisenhower consider exploratory negotiations with Russia at the ambassadorial level before rejecting Premier Bulganin's call for new East-West talks.

But Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader of the Senate and a member of its Foreign Relations Committee, said there should be no meeting of the two heads of state unless both the American ambassador to Moscow and the Soviet ambassador here agree it might be fruitful.

He said he had in mind preliminary negotiations by American Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson and Georgi N. Zarubin, the Soviet ambassador here.

Ask Top Talks — Mansfield outlined his views after Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, called on the President to give Bulganin's new letter a reply which is "affirmative in spirit."

The Bulganin letter, a 15-page document, was delivered here earlier in the week. Similar messages have gone to heads of America's allies in Europe.

In his letter to Eisenhower, Bulganin called anew for top level East-West talks to outlaw war and for ending nuclear bomb tests on terms which have not been acceptable to the West in the past.

Intended To "Undermine" — While saying it still is under "most careful study," State Department press officer Lincoln White said "anyone reading the letter can see" it is intended to undermine the NATO summit conference opening next Monday in Paris.

Writing to French Premier Felix Gaillard, Bulganin urged France to try to influence other NATO members to consider the Russian proposals. He also said the NATO meeting was called to speed war preparations. In his message to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Bulganin said countries that allow American bombers to be based on their soil are running grave risks.

Mansfield said Moscow's announcement last night that it is sending notes to all members of the United Nations warning that "the danger of nuclear war has greatly increased" points up the undesirability of rushing into a summit conference.

"I Wonder Why" — Stevenson, leaving here after brief service as special consultant to Secretary of State Dulles on NATO problems, said he had offered "some suggestions" on how Bulganin might be answered. He did not disclose what those suggestions were.

Stevenson criticized Bulganin's unwillingness to couple an end of nuclear testing with an agreement to halt manufacture of atomic-hydrogen weapons.

"I would like to think that Mr.

Bulganin's letter is a good omen," he said. "But if the Russians want to ban the use of nuclear weapons I wonder why they won't agree to ban production?"

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Today's homemaker spends less than three hours a day preparing meals in an all-gas kitchen. The housewife of yesteryear had to work nine hours a day in a hot, smoky kitchen to cook her family's food.

ACCENT ON SPEED — If it's speed you want, gas range manufacturers now offer high speed giant burners of up to 20,000 BTU's, making them the fastest on the market. If you count the seconds in brewing a morning pot of coffee, in bringing water to a fast boil, for deep fat frying, canning and preserving, then you will find these high speed burners the ideal answer, the American Gas Association points out.

If the nation's drivers continue to "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents," America may have one of its safest and happiest Christmases, the National Safety Council said today.

In launching its annual Christmas safety campaign, the council said the traffic trend is encouraging—but it also warned that highway accidents and deaths reach their peak at Christmas time.

During the first nine months of this year traffic deaths dropped three per cent from the same period for the previous year—a saving of 800 lives.

"If drivers can maintain this rate of improvement, more than 1,000 lives can be saved on the highway in 1957," the council said.

The success of the "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents" campaign in its first year has led the council to extend it through 1958. The purpose of the campaign is to encourage public officials to step up the campaign on traffic accidents and to stimulate acceptance of personal responsibility for safety.

Speed is a large factor in yuletide accidents, the council said.

It increases the chances of an accident, and it also decreases the chances of drivers and passengers coming out alive if an accident occurs.

To determine a safe speed, the council said, drivers must take into consideration:

1. Weather and visibility. Fog, rain, snow or darkness are caution signs that should be heeded.

2. Mechanical factors. Engine power, ability to hold the road, and efficiency of all mechanical parts have a definite bearing on selection of a safe speed.

3. Physical factors. Whether a road is rough, smooth, hilly, flat, curving or straight are considerations that should influence speed.

4. Personal factors. The driver's physical and mental condition and the speed at which he can safely control his car are important.

5. Traffic conditions. Drivers should adapt their speed to the traffic they meet. A safe speed on a country road can be unsafe on a city street.

Bowling

By JIM SPALDING

Like the great majority of bowlers, I bowl strictly for fun. Bowling is a game that gives me a refreshing break in my business routine of civil engineering. I enjoy the competition, the fellowship and the exercise. I find myself challenged by the urge for self-improvement that the great game of bowling provides.

I bowl in two leagues a week and that's just about par for anyone really interested in the game. Saturday afternoons, some friends and I usually meet for an open bowling practice session. This weekly practice session is one of the reasons I've been able to increase my average.

Remember, too, that there are some practice sessions where you shouldn't worry about your score. If you're not bending your left knee enough, for example, you're going to have a few miserable scores until you get the hang of it.

One time when you should worry about scores in practice is in picking up spares. Never shrug your shoulders and go after a spare halfheartedly because it's a tough one and it's only practice. The ability to convert spares is one of the simplest—and most important—ways to increase your bowling average.

Bowling style is simply the way you roll the ball. Unfortunately, many bowlers roll two consecutive balls differently and this habit can prevent a good average in your game.

One of the secrets of improving your average is to "fix" your bowling style so that each time you roll the ball you duplicate your action as exactly as possible. Once you get this down, you'll come to know what to expect each time you roll the ball.

As for a typical bowling style—well, I've been told that my style is about average. At the stance, I bend my body slightly from the waist because I've found that it relaxes me a bit more than standing perfectly upright.

Cites Own Style
I use a four-step delivery and start from the 12-foot mark which allows me what might be called "average sized" steps. My backswing is not especially high, nor is my arm follow-through. I don't turn the ball to give it spin; I just let it slide off my thumb and give it a lift with my fingertips for spin.

My own guess is that I probably bowl more in the style of Joe Wilson in recent years.

Practice Needed

To people who bowl just for fun but who would like to improve their game the best tip I can give is that practice is imperative. Practice regularly and practice intelligently.

First get your own bowling ball. Obviously, it will fit your grip perfectly and it should "behave" the same way each time you roll it.

First, analyze your faults then set out to correct them, one at a time. If your bowling establishment has an instructor, obtain his help because nothing is tougher than trying to analyze yourself.

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH

The Associated Press
Do you know the qualifications necessary before a U.S. commemorative stamp can be issued?

Well, there are now seven basic standards governing the adoption of such stamps as prescribed by the Citizen's Stamp Advisory Committee. They are:

1. No living person shall be honored on a U.S. stamp.

2. No American citizen may be honored by a U.S. commemorative until at least 25 years after death.

3. Commemoratives honoring individuals will be issued on the anniversaries of their births.

4. Events having widespread national appeal may receive consideration as commemoratives.

5. Commemoratives shall be issued on even date anniversaries, starting with the 50th year and continuing at 50 year intervals.

6. Commemoratives shall not be issued to honor a fraternal, political or religious organization, a commercial enterprise or a specific product.

7. Commemoratives will not be considered appropriate for organizations whose funds are supplied by voluntary contributions. (Poster stamps such as Christmas Seals are preferred in this case.)

Australia has announced well in advance that it will issue two new postage stamps depicting the Australian War Memorial at Canberra. Both will be 5½ pence brownish red and will show the courtyard of the Memorial as the central theme. The date of issuance will be February 10, 1958.

The date will coincide with the 14th Conference of the British Empire Service League, an organization of Commonwealth servicemen. The Confederate will be opened officially by the Queen Mother Elizabeth.

India has issued two new sets of stamps and has announced several more before the end of the year.

A recently issued adhesive honored the 19th International Red Cross Conference in New Delhi. It depicted a bust of Henri Dunant, founder of the Red Cross.

Two stamps just issued are for Children's Day. They bear pictures of children.

Upcoming stamps will include a set of three to commemorate the centenary of the Universities of Bombay, Calcutta and Madras; and a stamp to mark the 50th anniversary of the steel industry in India.

The Dominican Republic has issued two new stamps picturing the new stamps picturing the mahogany tree flower — national flower of the nation. The set was issued on the 66th birthday of Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo. The 2 centavos is brown and green while the 7 centavos is blue and green.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (P) — The next time Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas talks of scrapping the 40-hour work week he'll probably be specific.
He talked of it this week and got a lot of attention but only because it wasn't clear he had been repeating what someone else said. Then he had to make it clear.
Johnson, besides being the Democratic Senate leader, is chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee investigating the missile and satellite programs.
In talks in Texas about the need for speed to catch up with the Russians, Johnson said the 40-hour week will not produce the intercontinental ballistic missile.
And he said further: "We are justified in calling for an end to the 40-hour week, but not as a means of increasing profits for business."

48-Hour Week?
This raised immediate questions: Was he talking of a 48-hour week without overtime pay? Was he talking of a 48-hour week for the whole country? Was there a need for a 48-hour week?
Johnson got a quick and unfavorable reaction from AFL-CIO leaders at their convention in Atlantic City.
They opposed the idea of a longer work week and pointed to spreading unemployment and layoffs in the aircraft and missile fields because of economy cuts by the Defense Department.
(Their statements about unem-by the Labor and Commerce departments, which said the volume of unemployment in this country last month was the largest for any November in the past eight years.)

Applies To Missiles
Johnson did his talking Tuesday. On Wednesday he explained what he had had in mind about the 40-hour week.
He said he didn't mean it to apply to industry as a whole but only to missiles. And an aide later said Johnson wasn't talking for or against overtime pay.
Johnson said: "What I have done is repeat testimony before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee."

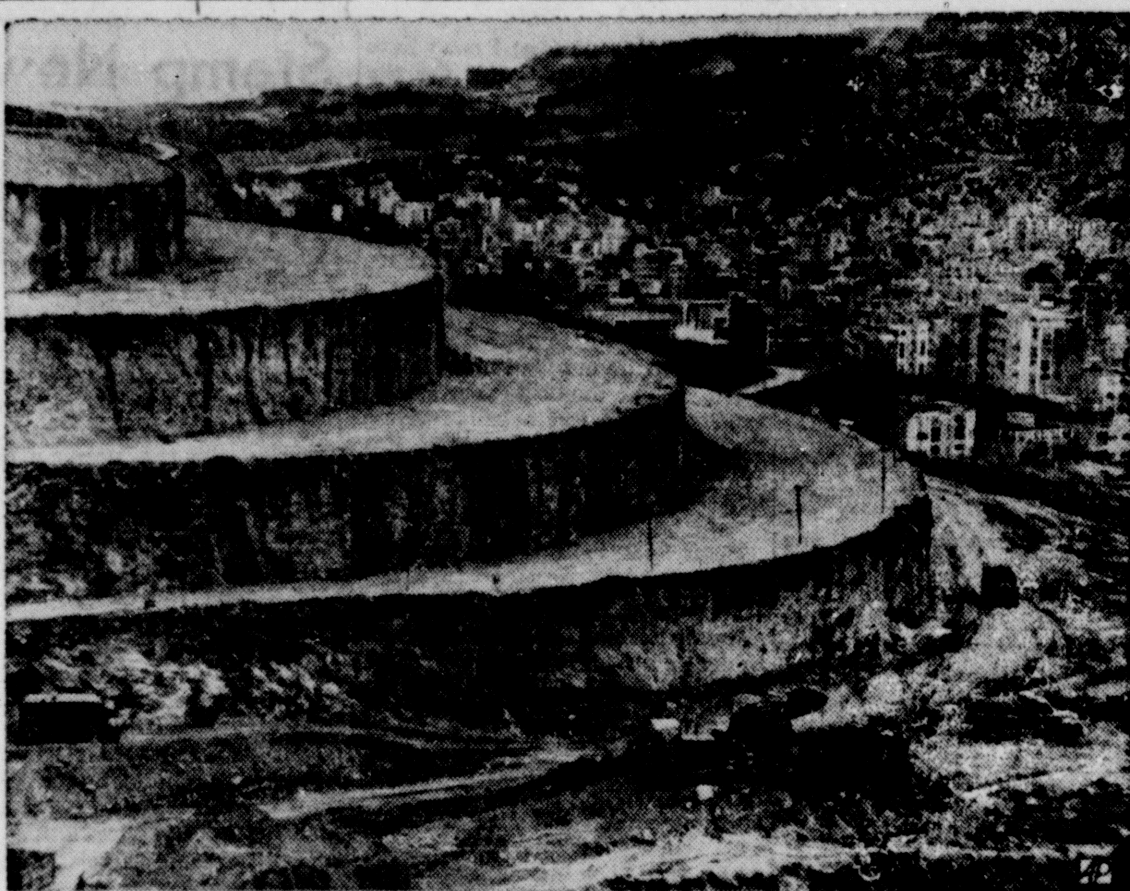

He quoted Secretary of Defense McElroy—who took over his Pentagon job Oct. 9 from former Secretary Wilson—as replying to a committee question about the missile program to this effect:
"McElroy found, when he took office, there had been a government ban on overtime pay for making missiles. McElroy quickly lifted the ban and authorized overtime."

But is there a shortage of workers for the missile program? Apparently Johnson doesn't know whether there is.

A call to his subcommittee, still working on its investigation of the missiles program, brought this answer: "We don't know whether there is a shortage of workers or not. That's something we hope to find out about as we go along."

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Raymond Chalkley Webster, 61, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State Education Assn., died suddenly yesterday at nearby Paoli while returning from a visit to Upper Darby.

Webster, a resident of Camp Hill, had been with the PSEA for some 20 years. He was a former teacher in Coatesville High School and had served several terms as a state representative from Chester County.

SENATE OPENS PROBE TODAY ON MISSILES

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (P) — The Senate Preparedness subcommittee today reopened an inquiry aimed at flattening major obstacles some of them feel have put the nation behind Russia in missile and satellite development.

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) said he believes the investigation will "point up the roadblocks" he said are slowing down missile production.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), another subcommittee member, said in a separate interview one of these obstacles is continued rivalry between the armed services. He said lags are compounded by lack of central direction.

Check On Procurement
"I am particularly anxious to find out the extent to which procurement of the many component parts is holding up developments and production," he said.

He said he agrees with Flanders that "we'll never get the program going full-blast until the President appoints a top man with overriding authority."
The subcommittee, headed by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, was expected to look into the failure last Friday of this country's first attempt to launch an earth satellite.

To Quiz Pentagon
It also was expected to ask Pentagon officials about a recent Air Force action establishing an office to deal with space research. The move may have stirred some Pentagon friction.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles told newsmen the Defense Department had asked the Air Force to "wait until we have the thing lined up." The department plans an over-all "advance research projects agency" with a single manager to coordinate such projects.

The subcommittee expects to go into Navy missile developments next week, including the Navy Vanguard project which failed in launching a test satellite last week at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

On "Crash" Basis
The Army Corps of Engineers disclosed, meanwhile, that construction of new missile facilities in New Mexico and at El Paso, Tex., has been stepped up to a "crash" basis after what a spokesman described as months of delay.

An engineers official said in Albuquerque, N. M., last night that of military construction will be placed under contract in the next seven months, and that more than 65 per cent of the total is for installations dealing primarily with missiles.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said in a speech prepared for Sigma Delta Chi meeting in Indianapolis, Ind., that press criticism of the Vanguard failure "has had considerable effect toward reducing the inertia, indifference and smugness which have afflicted the White House, the Defense Department and other executive departments" in the missile program.

STORM KILLS YANK SEAMAN

WASHINGTON (P)—The U. S. destroyer Manley, part of its superstructure smashed by heavy seas which killed one crew member and seriously injured three others, steamed toward Lisbon, Portugal, today.

The Manley was one of four American destroyers caught in an Eastern Atlantic storm that churned up mountainous waves off Spain yesterday and made it impossible to refuel the vessels.

A Navy spokesman here said the destroyers Manley, Gearing, McCord and Vogelgesang were en route from Norfolk, Va., to join the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean when they were buffeted by winds which at times reached 60 knots.

The Navy said the Gearing, McCord and Vogelgesang might have to be taken in tow if refueling could not be accomplished.

The Navy said a crewman on the Gearing was swept overboard into the raging sea, but was saved by heroic efforts of the tanker Salamone. He was not identified.

GANGSTERS MAY HAVE CONTEMPT CASES ON HANDS

By JAMES KOCH

ALBANY, N. Y. (P)—Legislative probes threatened to slap contempt proceedings on balking mobsters if they refused today to tell what happened last month at a gathering of gangland's elite and their friends.

Big John Ormento, one of the 60 men at the national gangland meeting at tiny Apalachin, took the Fifth Amendment 18 times yesterday as the first to testify among two dozen delegates subpoenaed. Ormento, of Lido Beach, Long Island, was under warning not to repeat the performance as he prepared to return to the witness chair today.

Other delegates slated to follow Big John in the watchdog committee's public hearing were Joe Profaci, the "Olive Oil King" from Brooklyn; Joseph Falcone, Utica liquor dealer; and 21-year-old Joseph Barbara Jr.

Father Was Host

It was young Barbara's father who played host to the hoodlums when surprised state police flushed them from his spacious stone mansion west of Binghamton Nov. 14. The raid touched off more than a dozen investigations in assorted states into the reasons for the meeting.

No one has talked yet and Ormento's recourse to the Fifth Amendment indicated few, if any, will now.

Ormento's performance also angered Committee Chairman William Horan.

"If the boys refuse to talk," the Republican assemblyman declared, "we might wait some of them right over to a judge."

Excused For Illness

Barbara, 51, who has suffered four heart attacks this year, the latest the day after the raid, was one of two delegates who asked to be excused from testifying because of illness. The other was John C. Montana, onetime Republican city councilman in Buffalo.

State police officers supplied a wealth of information to the committee on the background of Barbara's guests but nothing on the dinner conversation.

Ormento, a twice-convicted dope peddler, gave no more than his name and address. He invoked the Fifth Amendment on each of the nine questions dealing with his criminal record.

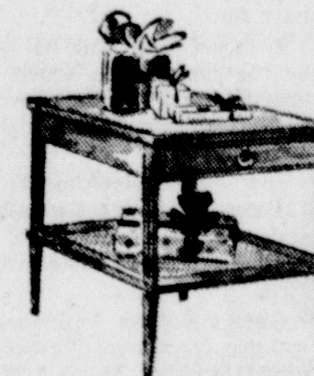

ONE IF BY LAND

DENVER (P) — Riley Cass, Denver engineer, and his wife drove to New England for their vacation. They especially wanted to see the Old North Church in Boston.

But no one they asked seemed to know exactly where it was, including several policemen standing outside a district station. So the Casses drove on — and passed Old North Church a block from the police station.

GAS IS MOST WIDELY USED FUEL IN HOME

Weatherproof and more automatic than sunshine itself, gas economically heats millions of American homes without the work and worry of furnace-tending.

In good weather or bad, gas is always on hand. It is the one fuel that doesn't run low in supply. It doesn't have to be ordered or delivered above ground. Gas is carried right to the house in protected underground pipelines, and it goes directly to the heating unit without shoveling or storage.

The second it enters the heating unit, gas goes to work. While other fuels must be turned into gases before they can begin to work, gas responds instantly with floor-to-ceiling warmth.

It is a pure concentrate of energy which burns quickly and completely in any type of heating system — hot air, hot water, steam or separate space heaters. And, gas burns clean without leaving ashes, soot or smoke.

Eliminates Ashes
Besides eliminating the unpleasant winter task of disposing of ashes, the cleanliness of gas protects walls, carpets, draperies and upholstery from soiling grime. Gas heat makes spring house cleaning virtually a thing of the past.

Gas heating is recognized as one of the most important contributions to the American way of life since Benjamin Franklin invented the iron stove. Franklin's stove opened the way for warm air room heating but it remained for gas, the miracle fuel, to do away with the drudgery of feeding tons of fuel annually to fiery iron monster that were red hot one minute and stone cold the next.

A new gas furnace is as simple and compact as an automatic washing machine. An entire house heating unit — even for large old houses — takes up hardly more room than a couple of ash cans. For basementless homes, it can be installed almost anywhere — in a closet, utility room, kitchen, laundry or attic.

Circulate Air
The newest fully-automatic gas furnaces heat, humidify, filter and circulate the air evenly throughout the house. Clock-type thermostats guarantee just the right temperature at just the right time.

The popular trend toward year-round air conditioning makes the new forced-air gas furnace quite attractive to the nation's home owners. The duct-work for the forced-air system provides a ready-made system for cool air distribution in the summer.

Many other home owners are taking advantage of modern automatic gas boilers which deliver both radiant and convected heat. This type of equipment moves hot water or steam to radiators or to concealed piping in floors, walls or ceilings.

Thousands of other families have taken advantage of a quick, low-cost switch to gas heat by installing conversion burners in their furnaces and boilers which used other fuels.

Conversion Burners
Individual room heaters have the "new look" too. The new space-heating units include models that could be mistaken for high-style TV consoles or for luxurious storage cabinets. In addition, there are units available which can be placed within walls to heat two or more adjoining rooms.

Other features of some of the modern space heaters include circulating fans to blow warm air across the floor and controls that switch the fans on and off automatically.

Today more homes are heated by gas than any other fuel. Annually, a million more homes are being winterized with gas central heating systems.

The installation of gas heating units is the first step toward a clean, carefree, fully modern, all-gas home — one that uses gas for heating, air-conditioning, cooking, refrigeration, clothes drying, incineration and water heating. Gas is the miracle fuel with built-in home comfort.

Harvard University was founded by the Puritans in 1636. But, it was not until 1639 that the name was officially changed to honor John Harvard, who contributed money and books to aid the college.

There are 172 lawyers, 84 businessmen, 75 farmers and 62 medical men in the new 601-member Parliament elected in Turkey last October 27.

GAS APPLIANCES BEST GIFTS FOR ENTIRE FAMILY

Are you looking for something really new and exciting to give your family this Christmas? If so, consider modern, fully automatic gas appliances which feature the much-wanted "new look."

Top burner heat controls! Built-in rotisseries! Meat thermometers! Wider ovens! Recessed griddles! Extra surface units! Colored enamel and metallic finishes! Automatic ignition for all burners! New low-heat pilots! Automatic "on-off" clock controls! Removable rack guides! Top burner safety pilots! Giant and super-giant burners!

Thermostatic timed shut-offs! Separate simmer burners! "Oven-on" and "oven-ready" indicator lights! Chrome oven liners! Retained heat ovens! Chrome cooking tops! Warming shelves and toasters! Double ovens! Deep fat fryers! Super speed burners!

Two Million Ranges
These are some of the reasons why gas range sales are expected to hit the 2,000,000 mark this year. Any or all of the above features can be had today from over 40 of the nation's leading gas range manufacturers.

But the "new look" is not just limited to gas ranges. It can be found in free-standing, built-in and recessed gas refrigerators, dryers, water heaters, furnaces, air-conditioners and incinerators. And all of these are handsomely styled in two and three-toned colored and metallic finishes.

Versatile Unit
Take the gas domestic washer-dryer combination for example. These are becoming just as versatile and popular as built-in gas ranges. Recessed into walls, built into unusual counter arrangements, and left free-standing, they illustrate the widest choice of arrangements possible. They can be used in the kitchen, laundry or basement laundry-playroom area.

Gas water heaters are now found alongside laundry equipment because of the importance of hot water in home laundering. They, too, have the much-wanted "new look." A pink and white square shaped gas water heater, specially designed to fit in well with washers and dryers in modern laundry rooms, makes a big hit with housewives.

Gas heaters are equally at home in the kitchen, concealed in closet or shown counter-top height alongside other modern home appliances.

List New Griddle
Also new is a gas-powered griddle recessed into a counter top which converts into an extra burner. Griddles in combination with recessed top of the burner units are much in evidence. Surface units finished in copper and stainless steel, feature a variety of arrangements — staggered, all-in-a-row and divided — depending upon the designer's choice.

One set of hinged surface units fold into a back panel when not in use, permitting the counter top to be used as a work surface when needed. Controls are installed either on the counter surface or just below, for all of the various units offered.

Truly automatic gas appliances are the most completely modern appliances on the market. They incorporate every possible feature, in every possible choice of colors and finishes. Whether built-in or free standing, they add a note of beauty to any kitchen setting.

Bantamweight boxing champion Alphonse Halimi has made half the suits he wears. He is an accomplished tailor.

GAS IS IDEAL COMFORT FUEL AROUND YEAR

Gas is an ideal fuel with a dual personality — one for winter heating and one for summer cooling. It operates a gas air-conditioner all year 'round to provide the utmost in comfortable living.

With fingertip climate control, a modern gas-equipped home is a haven from blistering hot weather or sub-zero outside temperatures. And even during the balmy in-between seasons, the modern gas air-conditioner faithfully maintains a perfect indoor climate.

In the cold of winter, a gas unit can put moisture into the air to prevent dry, parching heat. And, in sizzling summer weather, it wrings gallons of water out of the air to bring relief from humid, sticky weather. This magic combination solves the centuries-old quest for a perfect balance between the extremes of tropic and arctic temperatures.

Led The Way

Down through the years and into the present century, inventive minds worked to develop a summer-winter climate controlling device for the home. In the early 1900's the installation of the first forced-air gas furnace opened the way for all-year air-conditioning.

In general, the air-conditioning system which is the most widely used gas system in the country today is much the same as gas refrigeration. Gas heat is used to circulate the refrigerant and to cause the cooling action. Another system being tested employs a gas motor which operates a refrigerant compressor system.

Whether it's winter or summer — or in between — the air that is circulated through a house by a gas air-conditioning unit is filtered to remove dust, pollen and other impurities. With air circulation and ventilation, every room is draft-free and at the same time, stagnant air is dispelled along with tobacco smoke and odors.

Resist Illness

The air is so clean and evenly tempered to correct body temperature, the whole family resists colds and diseases. In addition, the air filtering process keeps curtains and upholstery free from soiling dust and grime all year long.

Today, gas air-conditioning is moving into its period of greatest growth. Never before has there been such a large-scale program of research in this field, and the gas industry appears to be on the threshold of yet more revolutionary advances in air-conditioning.

The millions who have experienced the benefits of air-conditioning in theaters, stores and offices have but to look to the dual personality of gas to provide all-seasons' comfort in their homes.

It has been estimated that within five years, half of all the new homes will be air-conditioned upon construction.

PARLIAMENTARY PROWL — Yeomen of the Guard make ceremonial search of cellars and vaults of the Houses of Parliament in London. Search is made on anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot of 1605 when Guy Fawkes and conspirators attempted to blow up Parliament.

Man With Apron In Kitchen No Longer Rare: Cite Reasons

There was a time — and not too many years ago — when the kitchen was practically woman's domain. The man worked and brought home the pay check. The woman cooked, cleaned, washed and ironed, and raised the family. Then a man in an apron was the classic caricature of the "hen-pecked husband."

Conditions have changed during the past ten years.

A man in an apron today, especially when guests come to dinner, is not a rarity in many American homes. Some men limit their efforts to gala occasions — the apron is emblazoned with witty sayings and he dons a high chef's hat to go with it. Then with a flourish he broils the steaks to order, or is the proud custodian of the Shish-Kabob or meat barbecuing in the oven rotisserie. And on occasion he may take time out from this task to toss together — and with many extra flourishes — an extra-special salad of his own exclusive design. As he makes them, he'll tell you that he does these foods better than any woman can.

The obvious question, then, is: Why have most men taken to cooking just in recent years?

Automatic Ranges Help
Among the reasons that are most obvious, and cited over and over again, are:

1. More married women are working outside their homes. In addition, men have more time around the house because of the 40-hour work week. So in fairness to the women who were willing to carry a double work load, men are helping them with the home work.

2. Today men and women are apt to arrive home in the evening at or about the same time. No longer is the evening meal ready and waiting to be put on the table the minute the liege lord enters the front door. So perhaps in the beginning, while visiting in the kitchen with the wife as she was preparing the meal, the husband lent a hand.

3. Many people are marrying at a much younger age today and are having larger families. This means a sharing of some of the house work if the woman is to have any free time to spend with her family.

4. The day of servants to help the homemaker with the household tasks is a thing of the past. Modern kitchen equipment and utensils — and, may I say husbands, too — are filling in this lack.

5. Men are beginning to lose their traditional belief that cooking is strictly "woman's work." Preparing foods while on camping, hunting and fishing trips has helped to break down the mental barrier and social stigma against the idea that men shouldn't cook — at least not in public.

Find Cooking Is Fun
6. And there can be no doubt about the next point: Automatic kitchen ranges with heat devices and controls that take the guesswork out of cooking, baking and barbecuing, plus convenience foods — frozen, canned, dehydrated, instant, ready-mixed and ready-to-bake — have helped lure the male into the kitchen.

All these reasons, and many more which have been expounded, may well be valid. I'm sure that each has played a role in bringing about the change. But the deep-down, basic reason, I believe, is this: Men have found that cooking is fun. In fact, a nationwide Gallup Poll showed that cooking is the home chore men like best.

But, whatever the reason, it is a recognized fact that more men cook today than ever before. Logically, it follows that they are keenly interested in knowing more about cooking equipment and utensils, food and food preparation techniques.

More husbands today know more about the domestic side of their households than their fathers did. As a result, the man-of-the-house today knows a lot about the food he eats and the equipment and appliances which are used to prepare that food. With more than a passing interest, he's now reading about these items in newspapers and magazines and watching the commercials on the air. Today men are studying articles and columns which his father would have shunned as being "only for women."

Machines Are The Servants Of Today

Revolution has reached the American home — an extension of the industrial revolution that started two centuries ago. It is providing a staff of machine servants for many families.

Data gathered by many agencies show that U.S. homemakers are turning more and more of their tasks over to their machine servants and doing other things with their time.

WATER HEATERS MAKE ALL-YEAR XMAS PRESENTS

Everyone likes to give and receive Christmas presents that keep on giving long after the holidays are over.

A gift that fills this bill is an automatic gas water heater.

The average family uses the water heater more than any other appliance in the home — for dishwashing, bathing, laundry, cleaning and a total of 140 different household tasks.

Increasing use of home laundry and automatic dishwashing equipment has brought with it a need for larger size water heaters in most homes. A properly sized tank is one which is large enough to provide a margin of extra capacity to meet maximum current as well as possible future demands.

Water heaters range in size from 30 to 100 gallons. The size should be determined by two things: The amount of hot water you need and the recovery capacity of the heater. This is the ability of the heater to replenish hot water as fast as it is used.

Can Use Smaller Tank

With a fast recovery heater you can use a smaller tank, thus saving on purchase price, installation, maintenance and operating costs, with the added advantage that it will take up less space. Many 30-gallon gas fired water heaters will recover their entire capacity in about one hour. They give more hot water per hour than any other kind of automatic heater (even those twice as large,) making them the fastest heaters on the market. If you find that you require a 40 or 50 gallon tank, gas again will give you the fastest recovery rate of any fuel in use today.

Further Advantages

Many automatic gas tanks offer the further advantage of dial-like, easy-to-get-at controls which enable you to obtain instantly the very high temperatures required for automatic dishwashing and some laundering. This means that you can maintain lower, more economical temperatures for normal use, yet have really hot water — up to 180 degrees — when you want it.

Putting up with an out-dated water heater is not only aggravating, it's false economy. Overworking your heater takes years off its life.

So for plentiful supplies of hot, hot water when you want it, give your family a new gas water heater — the gift that keeps on giving pleasure 365 days a year, year after year.

RANGE RAINBOW

Gas ranges now are made with enamel surfaces in black, blue, brown, copertone, gray, green, pink, red, tan, white and yellow. Metallic finishes come in antique bronze, antique copper, bright chrome, satin chrome and stainless steel.

Surveys by the American Gas Association show that yellow and green are favorite colors.

Stainless steel and chrome finishes add decorative touches.

SEEKING BEST AIR CONDITION UNITS BY TEST

One of the most exciting searches in history is currently being conducted by the giant gas industry to find the best all-around air conditioning system possible.

Gas companies in half the 48 states are field testing revolutionary new gas air conditioning units in sections of the nation where the severest climatic conditions prevail.

One such unit will run for five full cooling seasons (10,000 hours) without major overhauling, and more than 2,000 hours without servicing. Best of all, operating costs (including gas, electricity and water) are half the cost of a typical electrical system.

Prototype models of the 150 units already produced and being field tested include a gas heat pump, improved absorption type equipment, and a gas air conditioning system powered by a gas engine.

In addition to evaluating the different methods now available, the gas industry is sponsoring the most intensive research program ever conducted on air conditioning.

Conducting Experiments

Such outstanding research organizations as Battelle Memorial Institute, Johns Hopkins, Arthur D. Little, Inc., the Institute of Gas Institute, and the American Gas Association Laboratories are con-

ADAPT KITCHEN TO FAMILY USE

Are you a growing family with toddlers underfoot or is the lady of the house a career woman with another job outside the home? Do you favor outdoor dining and entertaining? Are you a gourmet cook who likes dinner by candlelight every evening, or do you prefer a "get-it-over-quickly" routine? Perhaps you are a two cook family.

After you have analyzed your living patterns and decided what you really want, choose and assemble those ideas which appeal to you most. Then place these and additional ideas of your own on paper. The result will be your own individual kitchen living plan tailored expressly for you and your family's needs.

Every major appliance has joined the ranks of built-in equipment — ranges and ovens, refrigerators, laundry equipment, water heaters, freezers and dishwashers. The emphasis is on a custom enclosed look with convenient working heights so that bending, stooping and difficult cleaning problems can be eliminated.

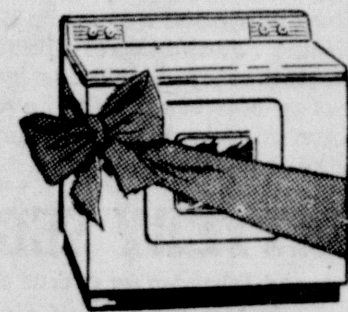

ducting experiments with gas energized jet, double-loop, and absorption cycles, packaged engine compressor units, and gas external and internal combustion systems.

Predictions are that within the near future the American public, seeking the finest year-round air conditioning on the market — from the standpoint of comfort, economy and efficiency — will find the answer with gas.

ON THE HOUSE

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
The Associated Press

If you're beset by rising fuel bills, pull up a chair and meet Glenn Neven of Fort Dodge, Iowa.

He's a kindred soul, perhaps like you digging doggedly in his pockets to come up with enough cash to pay those heating expenses.

The Iowa man writes us:

"My house is five years old. All the insulation I have in the walls is three-quarter-inch weather-board.

"I don't feel this is sufficient, but I have been told not to put more insulation in the walls as it would give me paint trouble.

"My fuel bills are out of reason and I feel it is due to no insulation. Please tell me if I could insulate the walls now — how, and what kind to use?"

Cut Heating Costs

Two points at the outset:
(1) Insulation can cut heating costs, and

(2) Insulation in itself is not directly responsible for moisture condensation on painted walls (which presumably is what is meant here by "paint trouble").

Condensation of water vapor on inside walls and windows certainly can damage paint and woodwork. And insulation can add to this problem if the house is not properly vented.

But insulation alone is not the culprit. Condensation is caused by high indoor humidity and construction features which do not allow vapor to escape from the house.

Different Temperatures

Condensation is most noticeable during the winter months because there is a marked difference between outdoor and indoor temperatures. Well, you might ask, what causes high indoor humidity in the first place?

Did you know that vapor equivalent to three gallons of water a day is produced by cooking, laundering and bathing? It's a common household problem, therefore, to get rid of this vapor — or, expressed in other terms, to lower the humidity.

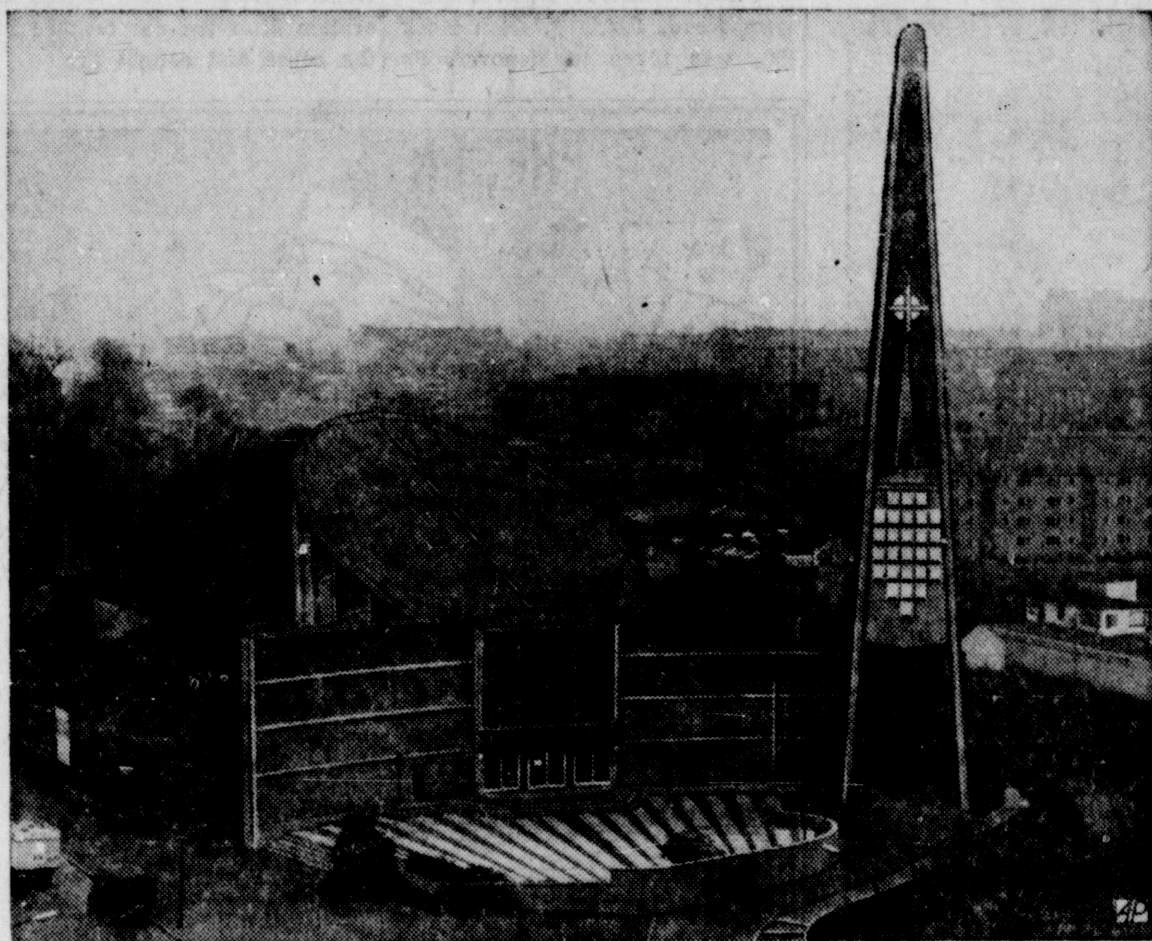

The best way to do it is by adequate vents and a kitchen exhaust fan. They serve as an "escape hatch" for water vapor.

There are a few other tips, too: Open the bathroom window slightly after bathing; the vapor created by the bath water will be pulled out.

Prevent Frosting

Also, at any particular time when indoor humidity is extremely high slightly open a single window to prevent the window pane from "frosting." Close the window after a few minutes.

As for insulation, itself, we have a suggestion from the Better Heating-Cooling Council, which speaks for the heating and cooling industry. The council suggests that mineral wool could be blown into the wall space of Neven's house without contributing to any condensation problem provided there is an escape hatch for vapor.

TINY FLAME IS ENERGY ENOUGH TO KEEP FOODS FROM SPOILAGE

Cut Hole In Wall

In this method, a hole usually is cut in the outside wall near the roof. This gives access to the wall space. A tube is then placed in the hole and insulation is forced into the wall by a blower.

To all of you who have unreasonable fuel bills, please remember this:

Properly insulated houses lose less heat through walls and roof. They require smaller heating plants. And they use less fuel. But each house has its own unique

The modern gas refrigerator, cooled by energy from a tiny blue flame, answers one of man's oldest problems — the safe and convenient storage of food.

The gas freezing system is the only one in the world that is both continuous and automatic. Its smooth, silent operation maintains an even cold without any stop or start.

There is nothing to make noise or to break down in the gas refrigerator. It has no motor, compressor, belt, valves or other moving parts that turn, vibrate and grate against each other. Safety features are built right into the unit. An automatic shut-off of the pilot is provided in the event it goes out.

Designed for economy as well as comfort and convenience, the attractively-styled gas refrigerator has a spacious freezing compartment, varied low temperature zones and the new magic ice-maker. Its low temperatures curb wasteful spoilage of food and safeguard the family's health by stopping the growth of bacteria.

Plenty Of Ice

An unlimited supply of sparkling ice cubes flows from the futuristic ice-maker without the muss and fuss of ice cube trays. Just as one ice cube is removed from the ice basket, another is produced automatically to replace it. And, better still, the ice cubes — which in reality are frosty half discs instead of the ordinary chunks of ice from trays — will not stick together.

The huge freezing locker in the modern gas refrigerator has help to bring about a new way of life in the American home — the more construction features, so it's best to use the services of a reliable insulation contractor.

He'll tell you the best type of insulation to use and the best method of application.

YOUNG RUSSIAN WRITES BOOK ON JETS, MISSILES

WINNIPEG (AP) — A publicity-shy, 18-year-old Russian immigrant has been disclosed as the author of a highly technical book on jet planes and guided missiles.

Everyone knew that Andy Bilimovich wrote the book but not even the publishers were aware of his age until after the volume was placed on sale. It's reported selling well in the United States.

The book, "Jets and Missiles," published in a paperback form by Trend Books, Inc., Los Angeles, is a review of the world's jets and missiles compiled from technical publications.

Young Bilimovich wrote it while a 15-year-old student at Shattuck School in Fairbault, Minn. He's now in Toronto seeking a job to finance a college education in the United States.

Never Asked Age

Mrs. Irene Bilimovich, his widowed mother who supports herself as a stenographer, explained in an interview why she thought the boy's age was not revealed sooner.

"They never asked," she said. She had revealed his background, thinking this might boost sales of the book.

The young author was born in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. After the death of his doctor-father, he left Yugoslavia in 1950 with his mother and grandparents. They lived two and a half years in a Trieste refugee camp before coming to Canada in 1953.

Mrs. Bilimovich said the boy took an early interest in the armed forces of the world and subscribed to technical publications of many countries dealing with jets and missiles.

When he became eager to earn money to further his education, Mrs. Bilimovich said she encouraged him to assemble his material on jets and missiles in book form.

He wrote aircraft manufacturers for details and photographs. He got information on Russian planes from his files and pictures from Sovfoto Agency in New York. He finished the book in six months.

In Los Angeles, where negotiations were handled through the mails, editor Kenneth Bayless of Trend Books said the publishers had no idea of Bilimovich's age until they were told by a newspaper man two months after the book was published. The author had insisted on no publication of personal biography or pictures.

Book Was Well Done

"We had no idea whether the author was 5 or 75 years old and we weren't interested, particularly," Bayless said. "The book was well done, well written, popularized for good news stand sales and we were satisfied as to authenticity of the material before we published it."

He said that since publication Trend has had no reaction from aircraft manufacturers or the government but has had several "nice comments" from aircraft publications. He said the book is doing well.

Mrs. Bilimovich said Trend Books paid Andy $1,500. He also is to get 1 1/2 cents for each copy sold above 100,000. The publishers have already printed 125,000.

The book carries historical, performance and specification details on some 100 jets and missiles from many countries.

"ALMOST, BUT NOT ENOUGH" is our verdict on how close competitive cars have come to matching the Swept-Wing 58. Take style. Other new cars are "almost" as low in inches, but still seem high and boxy in looks. Some of them are "almost" going to fins, but not enough to really make a difference. Then take performance. None of the other 1958 cars have anything to match the sway-free, dip-free, vibration-free ride of Torsion-Aire. (It's standard equipment.) Most of them still don't even have push-button driving! So after you've seen the "almost" cars, come in and drive a Swept-Wing 58. You'll see why we say: They're catching on, but they can't catch up.

President Of Indonesia Denies He Has Been Ousted

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian government today issued a pencilled statement in President Sukarno's hand denying Dutch rumors that he had been deposed.

The President wrote that he was conducting business as usual. "I think Amsterdam is full of wishful thinking," he added.

"This is the biggest laugh Sukarno has had in years," a presidential aide said.

The reports that Sukarno was out, broadcast by Radio Hilversum in the Netherlands, stemmed from an announcement that the President was going abroad for a rest.

Premier Djuanda asked Parliament to swear in its moderate nationalist speaker, Sartono, as acting president beginning next Friday. An official announcement said Sartono, 56, is prepared to serve "during the period of President Sukarno's recuperation."

Only A Figurehead
A government spokesman indicated, however, that Sartono would only be figurehead. He said Premier Djuanda and Maj. Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution, the army chief of staff, "will be in charge during Sukarno's visit abroad." The Dutch broadcast said there were rumors in Jakarta that a triumvirate of Djuanda, former Vice President Mohammed Hatta and Gen. Nasution had put Sukarno under arrest.

Sukarno's statement said: "Rumors from Amsterdam that I was ousted? I am still here. I am at this present moment presiding over the eighth session of the National Advisory Council. I think Amsterdam is full of wishful thinking. Nasution and Djuanda are drawing the same line with me (signed) Sukarno, 1100 hours (11 a.m.) on this 13th of December, 1957."

India Or Egypt

The President reportedly was invited by the government of "a friendly neighboring country to recuperate there" from the strain of the dispute with the Netherlands over West New Guinea which is causing Dutchmen to flee Indonesia.

Sources said Sukarno might go to India or Egypt.

AFL-CIO WILL SEEK HIGHER WAGES IN 1958

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A smaller but determined AFL-CIO, its guns aimed at liberal wage increases during 1958, turned to redoubling its efforts today to rid itself of crime, racketeering and corruption.

It had shown during its week-long convention a firmness to deal decisively with corruption even if it meant expulsion of its largest affiliate — the 1,400,000-member Teamsters Union.

Ouster from the federation of the Teamsters and two other smaller unions charged with corruption apparently had restored some of the prestige organized labor lost by disclosures of the Senate Rackets Committee.

Eliminate Corruption
In a final act of its second constitutional convention which ended yesterday, the federation pledged to redouble its efforts to eliminate "all forces of crime, racketeering and corruption within the trade union movement."

It felt, however, that too much emphasis had been placed on labor corruption by the Senate committee and called for equal efforts to smoke out any management malpractice.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, re-elected to his second two-year term as head of the federation, summed up labor's position on union corruption in this way:

"The important thing . . . is that we have demonstrated that we are reluctant to throw people out of the house of labor; that we only do it when there is no other way, and that we do it in the full knowledge that it presents dangers to us, but with the complete conviction that in the long run labor will be better off for what we have done here this week."

Want "Fair Share"
Meany then told the federation it must stick to its purpose of securing for labor its "fair share" of the national wealth.

"We still think that organizing the unorganized is the first and fundamental purpose of the trade union movement, that it is a prerequisite to doing anything to improve their (workers') position," he declared.

The convention had earlier called for an intensified organizing campaign and fixed substantial wage increases, a shorter work week and improved fringe benefits as its 1958 collective bargaining demands.
